Roman learns about shopping center

By DALE GOWING
Of The Roman Staff

Plans for a "12-or 15-store" shopping center in the Romulus City Hall area are on the drawing board, The Romulus Roman has learned.

The shopping center construction will be followed soon after by a high-rise senior citizens housing complex.

Although city officials are keeping the "wraps" on most of the details of the future projects, Romulus Mayor Terry L. Troutt said the shopping center alone is expected to be "in excess of 20 acres near the city hall, probably with 12 or 15 stores."

HE SAID plans are not even in the blueprint stage yet, but that the developers are attempting to recruit companies to lease store space in the center.

'I imagine a lot of activities would take place in the same area...'

Troutt said he anticipates that the shopping center and subsequent high-rise housing will pave the way for further commercial development.

"It could develop into a central development area," he added. "I imagine a lot of activities would take place in the same area once this gets going."

Troutt is most pleased over the prospect of obtaining the senior citizens housing, since Romulus lacks any such facility. The city's goal is to have federal and state subsidized housing for seniors, but that goal is unreachable until new shopping facilities are built.

TO BE SUBSIDIZED, which will allow tenants to pay a rent based on income, the housing unit must have a shopping center no more than 500 feet away, he said.

"We could build a direct-rent project where everybody pays the same rent, but not very many people could live there," he added. "But the city would like some of the housing in the building to be subsidized. It's very important here because there are many low income senior citizens."

Troutt said the builders cannot even submit an application for the housing construction until the shopping center plans are finalized.

Another privately-owned shopping center with four or five stores is proposed for the Wayne-Van Born roads area, near the Wayne-Beverly urban renewal area. However, Troutt said the shopping center will not solve the city's shopping woes.

"The city would rather have a large one. Twenty acres or more are needed," he added. "I don't think the city wants to establish a piece-by-piece shopping area."

Airport growth concern rises; Other communities back fight

By DALE GOWING
Of The Roman Staff

Although Romulus is footing the bill alone for its court battle against further runway expansion at Detroit Metropolitan Airport, the city by no means should harbor any fears of being alone in its concern.

Neighboring communities are behind Romulus 100 per cent, they claim, although for different reasons, they actually have as much at stake in the court fight as Romulus.

"There's no effort Romulus can take that will be too strong in attempting to control the airport's expansion," said Van Buren Township Supervisor G. Elton Gollwitzer. "Somebody needs to be working on putting the brakes on this thing."

ROMULUS IS IN the midst of a legal battle with the Wayne County Road Commission (WCRC), which operates the airport for the county. The WCRC plans to lengthen an east-west runway which Romulus claims will worsen the aircraft noise problem in the city. The city, board of education and homeowner Fouad Berry are plaintiffs in a suit seeking an injunction against further building at the airport.

Gollwitzer is interested in the case because the WCRC is seeking to purchase Willow Run Airport within the township. The airport is owned by the University of Michigan and a sale to the WCRC would pave the way for an expansion program there, too.

Van Buren is opposed to any expansion of the cargo airport, which once was the major airport for southern Michigan.

In addition, the runway expansion at Detroit Metropolitan Airport likely would increase air traffic over Van Buren Township.

"THE TOWNSHIP has to fight as hard as it can every inch of the way to stop the WCRC from enlarging Willow Run if it purchases it," Gollwitzer said. "The commission already has ruined development in the township by stating its plans for expansion."

"I think that until they (road commission) have all of Wayne County transformed into an airport they won't stop," he continued. "The WCRC is trying to quietly get control of Willow Run and we're trying to keep them from it. We've made some moves that will make it very difficult for them to expand."

Gollwitzer said those "moves" included purchasing land which will be needed for any expansion.

"But the way the road commission goes about getting things, you have to take a strong position like Romulus is," he said.

"VAN BUREN is sympathetic with the county; we feel there should be a big airport in this area. But it shouldn't have to serve such a big area like it does. Metro should be developed to take care of our area, and other airports, should be built to take care of other areas. Instead, Metro keeps getting bigger and bigger."

"We're behind Romulus — more power to them," he said. "They should keep trying. It will be good for the community in the long run."

Taylor Mayor S. Richard Marshall indicated his city's support of Romulus' court efforts, too.

"Taylor supports Romulus' case but for different reasons," Marshall said. "Romulus is complaining because of the loss of tax base caused by the airport's taking over so much land, but so far Taylor hasn't lost any land."

"OUR MAJOR area of concern is aircraft noise and how that will increase if the airport expands."

"There are some properties within Taylor that are deemed within the flight patterns, which places strict construction rules on the land. It's almost impossible to get financing for the properties."

The central western and northwestern portions of Taylor are most affected by air traffic, Marshall said.

And homes in those areas continually are losing value.

He admitted, however, that Taylor has maintained a good relationship with the WCRC, while Romulus' relationship with the same body is becoming strained.

"I understand the county's position, because they obviously are interested in developing an airport," Marshall said. "We've had opportunities to meet and discuss any problems we've had, but I guess it's a different story if they are taking hundreds of acres from your city like in Romulus."

Homeowner criticizes Milliken's non-support

The Romulus homeowner who is a plaintiff with the city and school district in a court fight to stop the expansion program at Detroit Metropolitan Airport yesterday criticized Gov. William Milliken for his decision not to support Romulus.

"He's really let us down," said Fouad Berry, who wrote the governor asking for his help in convincing the Wayne County Road Commission (WCRC) to curtail its runway expansion plans. The WCRC operates the airport.

According to Berry, Milliken replied in a letter that he was not allowed to become involved in the issue because it has entered into litigation on the part of the court.

BUT THE ATTORNEY representing the Romulus parties, Jerrold Fadem of Beverly Hills, Calif., called Milliken's reply a "cop-out," and said any public official can become involved in a legal matter after it has entered into litigation.

"Any official who tells you he can't is not interested in the people," Fadem told Berry. "What Milliken did was a cop-out."

Berry said the governor is required "to represent the public, and we think there is a lot of things he could do — especially since he is influential with the state legislature."

"At least he could give us an audience," Berry said.

BERRY ADDED that Milliken's reply read: "I know this case affects many people, but I have been advised that since it is in litigation I can't make any judgement."

Berry said he received a similar reply from U.S. Sen. Philip Hart after requesting his help.

In the meanwhile, the date for the hearing on the county's motion to dismiss Romulus' lawsuit has been postponed again — this time to Sept. 9 before Judge Cornelia G. Kennedy in U.S. District Court in Detroit. It was the second postponement of the hearing.

Owner of mobile park aims to spruce it up

By DALE GOWING
Of The Roman Staff

A controversy between several mobile home owners in a Romulus trailer park has dwindled down to a confrontation between the park's owner and two park residents.

Frank Royster, owner of the Metro Mobile Home Park on Van Born, has served eviction notices to two trailer owners since they apparently did not want to follow his park renovation plans. The eviction is effective Sept. 4.

According to Royster, the park is undergoing a face lifting which will include adding a swimming pool, tennis courts and laundromat, plus upgrading trailer sizes to comply with a new building ordinance.

IT IS THE ISSUE of the trailer sizes that has caused the problems.

City building codes require all mobile homes to be at least 12-feet wide and 50-feet long. No minimum dimensions were in the law books for the park when it was first built, so several trailers less than 12-feet wide were installed.

Therefore, to comply with the building code and to meet the requirements of the lending firm providing him with his renovation loan, Royster informed residents that they must either enlarge all trailers less than 12-feet wide or buy new trailers at least 12-feet wide.

All but two of the residents eventually agreed to comply with Royster's order, and the two are being evicted.

"I'M NOT TRYING to be hard-nosed, but I don't see why I shouldn't be able to upgrade my park if I want to," Royster said.

The Metro Mobile Home Park for years consisted of 75 units on six acres of land. Another adjacent 30 acres owned by Royster and zoned for mobile home use are being developed for an additional 132 units, to bring the total of trailers in the park to 227.

Royster said "two or three" trailer owners did buy new trailers that are at least 12-feet wide.

City, union set talks; New contract nears

A special bargaining session between representatives of the City of Romulus and 100 city employees over a new multi-year contract has been scheduled for Thursday.

According to attorney Timothy Downs, representing the city, the two parties have reached tentative agreement on the contract and are meeting Thursday "to see if there are any further inquiries."

"There is no formal agreement as yet," he said. "But it is my understanding that we have reached agreement. At least we're talking in the same ball park."

HE SAID THE employees' demands are "wide ranging" but added that a settlement appears certain.

"I certainly hope we can resolve all the issues," he said. "The city always has had an open-door policy with the employees and I think both parties have been bargaining in good faith."

The employees voted down a ratification proposal for the new contract two weeks ago because they reportedly were opposed to foggy job classifications and descriptions in the contract package.

They were, however, in agreement over the majority of the contract issues. THEIR 3-YEAR contract expired

July 31. The city has offered a new contract to extend "two years for wages and three years for the language," said a spokesman for the employees' union.

Included in the city's offer are a 40 cents-per-hour, across the board wage increase and 10-cent cost of living increase.

Huron gets traffic light

A long-awaited traffic light installation at the intersection of Middlebelt and Sibley Road in Huron Township apparently came a bit too late for three car owners.

An accident at the intersection caused when one driver allegedly ran a red light into the path of another car created the 3-car collision, police said. A new traffic light was at the corner, but one Huron Township official said the driver "probably wasn't even aware of the light, since it was installed recently."

The corner reportedly has been the scene of numerous accidents in recent years, and the township's petition for a traffic light there finally was granted after a 1½-year wait, the official added.

NO SERIOUS injuries were reported in last Wednesday's mishap, but considerable damage was done to the three vehicles.

According to the Wayne County Sheriff's Department Road Patrol report, an auto driven by Edward W. Ruby, 51, of 22520 Middlebelt, New Boston, ran the red light and struck the car driven by Louis J. Vena, 16, of 38698 Judd Rd., Belleville.

The impact of the collision forced Vena's auto to swerve and strike a telephone booth and newspaper vending stand.

both of which were hurled against a parked auto. Vena and Bradley S. Bertin were treated and released at Wayne County General Hospital.

Bill aims to revamp adoption procedures

A bill has been introduced in the state legislature which would guarantee that adoption agencies could not place a child in an adoptive home until that adoption is safe from appeal.

Introduced by Rep. Gary Owen (D-22nd District), H.B. 5958 would prohibit a court or an agency from placing a child in an adoptive home until the period for appealing the natural parents' rights to that child has expired.

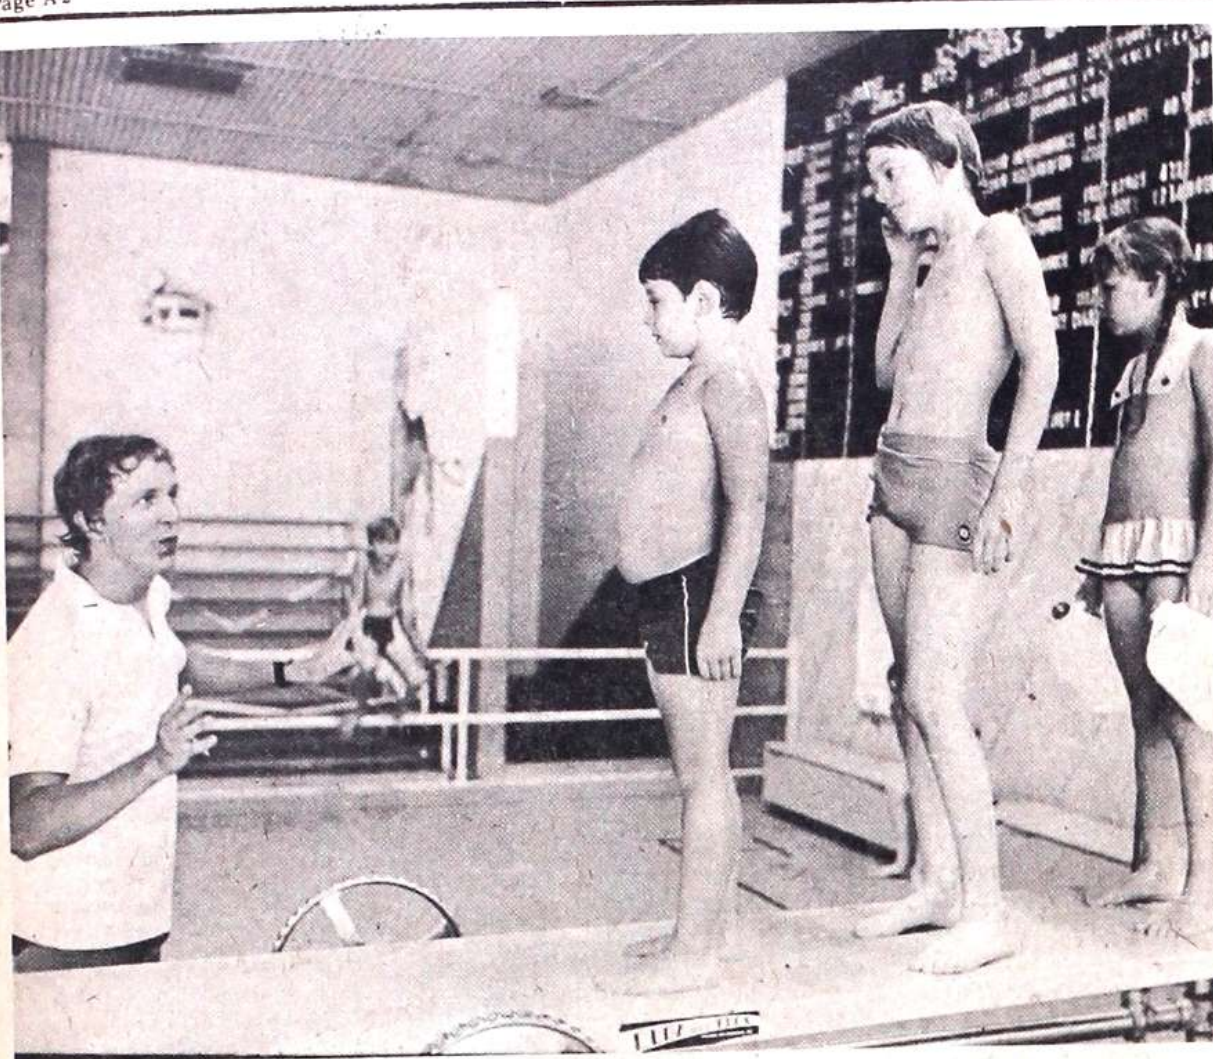

Currently, Owen said, a person has 90 days in which to appeal a court decision to terminate his rights to his child.

The proposed legislation changes that period to 20 days, and requires adoptive parents to go through an adoption agency — either a private agency or the Michigan Department of Social Services — to adopt an unrelated child.

"This is an attempt to insure that thoughtful consideration is given to each stage of the adoption process, that parental rights are not surrendered lightly and that there is no pressure placed on young women by adoptive parents desperate for a child," Owen explained.

In addition to these provisions, Owen said, legislation has been introduced to clarify adoption procedures and specifically allow for the adoption of foster children.

Wayne alumni reunite

This year will mark the passing of the 41st year since the Wayne High School class of 1933 graduated. The graduation occurred in the midst of a great depression, and students were awarded diplomas in a ceremony devoid of fanfare and traditional caps and gowns.

The members of that class will meet on Sept. 7 to reminisce and take part in their annual reunion at 1199 Sheldon Rd. in Plymouth.

Swimming pool activities will start at 4:30 p.m. and a buffet luncheon is scheduled to begin at 7 p.m. Class officers have asked that all members of the Wayne class of 1933 contact Milton S. Kolarov at 721-1724, and plan to attend the affair.

Fire chief assumes duties

Romulus' first full-time combination fire chief and fire marshal will assume his new duties Saturday.

John Wilhide Jr., a volunteer firefighter in the city for 16 years, was appointed as new chief last week by Mayor Terry L. Troutt.

Wilhide will do double-duty as department chief and head fire inspector for the city. The former Station No. 4 captain will take additional schooling in fire prevention and the inspection of buildings.

Wilhide succeeds Charles Bradley, who resigned as fire chief in June. Another fireman, James Haislip, was named to replace Bruce Hamel as assistant chief. Hamel resigned last week.

The Romulus City Council transferred $15,000 from the city budget's general fund to cover the chief's salary for the balance of the fiscal year, which began July 1. It will end June 31, 1975.

Troutt said the full-time fire chief's post was formed to combat the problem of fire prevention violations in city buildings.

"John Wilhide is a dedicated fireman and will be good for the city," said Troutt.

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER

HAROLD REDISKE, JR. — DIRECTORS

Through the years we have all seen TV and newspaper pictures of crashed cars in a scramble of twisted steel. We have seen pictures of previous human life made lifeless in the devastating wreckage on highways. This, in spite of the fact all of us have been constantly alerted to traffic dangers and dire predictions of almost uncannily accurate death tolls. And, even so, in the fading hours of each holiday we once again see the sorrowful and sickening tabulation of traffic fatalities.

When, if ever, will we realize a license to drive is a privilege and not a right to drive in a manner that endangers our own life and property, as well as that of others? When, if ever, will we realize we have heartlessly permitted these happenings through mass inertia and indifference to the mishaps of others? When, if ever, will we initiate self-corrective measures to at least TRY to minimize the danger to ourselves and others? Conceivably, this could be our last chance. For far too many it will be!

Residents pass tax

The voters in the communities of Belleville and Van Buren Township followed the rest of Wayne County in approving a special education levy of one mill to raise $13.5 million for instruction of mentally and physically handicapped children.

The unofficial vote returns of the August primary election showed the proposal was approved 137,307 to 122,508. The property tax levy, $1 for each $1,000 of assessed valuation, will go into effect immediately unless there is a special referendum to remove it.

In Belleville the special education millage was approved by a vote of 152 to 103.

In Van Buren Township the voters approved the proposal by a vote of 696 to 536.

Officials to try again for charter changes

Romulus city officials have elected to try again in November to gain voter approval of several city charter amendment proposals, defeated Aug. 6. The city council last week voted to place five of the original six proposals on the Nov. 5 general election ballot. One proposal, to amend the salaries of the administrative secretaries to the mayor, clerk and treasurer, was killed by the council after Romulus City Attorney William S. Munger revealed that the current charter actually already allows the city to amend the salary stipulations. Romulus City Clerk Leonard Folmar said the wording of the other five propositions will remain unchanged when they are placed back on the ballot. But, the city isn't going to go down without a fight next time, he added. Mayor Terry L. Troutt believes the amendments were defeated Aug. 6 largely because of the voters being unaware of what they were voting for.

Before the November election, the city will mail flyers to registered voters informing them of the propositions' details. The five propositions deal primarily with changing the methods and requirements of competitive bidding within the city, and affording the mayor purchasing power in the event of an emergency. Five of the six propositions were defeated soundly.

It produced paradox

Watergate makes us aware of strength

First of 2-part series

Thank goodness, Watergate produced a paradox. Instead of shattering or even damaging the United States, it made Americans more aware than ever before of the unique strength of their system of government and its almost miraculous powers of revival.

As the twilight settled over the administration of Richard M. Nixon, there was a marked absence of gloating, recrimination or even partisanship. The way was cleared for Nixon's departure without the clash of sullen mobs in the streets.

SUDDENLY THE focus was on the new president, Gerald R. Ford, an occupant of the vice-president's office for only eight months. A sort of New Year's Eve atmosphere developed.

The future would be better. Ford, the hope ran, would correct old mistakes. His theme would be honesty and openness.

Old as it is, the Constitution of the United States came through Watergate unscathed. Operating separately, the judicial and legislative arms of the government halted the executive's abuse of power. Pragmatic considerations took over then providing for a quick transfer of power at the White House.

'Historians may regard Watergate as a unique sort of American triumph.'

Very few countries in the world could have expected such sweeping results with so little strain to the fabric of the governmental system.

EVEN IN GREAT Britain, with its long tradition of Parliamentary government, the process of rooting out Watergate and related scandals conceivably could have been more difficult than it was here.

Late last spring, in conversations this correspondent had with reporters in London's Fleet Street, the British expressed surprise at the ability of the American media to keep digging deeper and deeper into the scandal.

"Historians may regard Watergate as a unique sort of American triumph," one politically sophisticated Englishman said. "I hope in similar circumstances the British press would meet the challenge the same way. Here, though, the old-boy-network would have served to keep the press at arms length for a longer time. Our strict libel laws also would have tended to inhibit us."

Some of the more astute editorial writers on continental newspapers made the point that Watergate showed the American political system has the capability of purifying itself much as a fast running stream can clean a forest lake.

WESTERN Kremlinologists closely watched the Soviet Union's reaction to Watergate.

First they wanted to see if the Russians were tempted by the changing of Presidents in Washington to try a power play somewhere in the world. Up to now, Moscow has refrained from rocking the boat, possibly because the transition from Nixon to Ford was carried out so fast.

Obviously, the whole Watergate affair made Soviet rulers extremely nervous. Leonid I. Brezhnev, first secretary of the Communist Party, has invested considerable personal prestige on the concept of Soviet-American detente. Nixon was at the other end of the negotiations for this.

In Russia it is dangerous for any Communist leader to get too friendly with a leader of the Capitalist world. When that Capitalist turns out to be a loser, the risk is doubled.

THAT UNDOUBTEDLY was one reason the Soviet media ignored Watergate for so long and keep most of the details from the Russian public.

There is another more sinister reason, however. Watergate demonstrated that Americans, when aroused, will demand an accounting from their leaders, no matter how powerful they are.

Too much discussion of Watergate in the Russian press might give the docile Soviet people the idea that they should hold their own leaders accountable for wrongs past and present.

Congress is giving bureaucrats power

By ARCH BOOTH
President U.S.
Chamber of Commerce

Not long ago a court ruled that agents of the federal Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) may enter any place of business without a court-issued search warrant and without prior notice.

This is a power that neither the police nor the President of the United States possess, but Congress has chosen to give it to a small group of appointed bureaucrats and their staff.

The powers of OSHA are so extensive that small businessmen are terrified of it.

ONE WRITES: "I feel should I become too involved (in activities of the national chamber) the OSHA people would get interested and make it impossible to stay in business."

"There is no way a small contractor can abide with all their rules; therefore let us say I am afraid to speak out."

OSHA inspectors serve as investigating officer, judge and jury. When they levy a fine, it goes into effect within 15 days unless the alleged violator appeals, and the fine can be increased in the appeals process.

The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) also presumes its victims guilty until proven innocent. IRS can seize property — including your home — on its own determination that you are a tax delinquent, and it's up to you to prove them wrong.

SUCH POWERS are not limited to OSHA and the IRS. They are becoming daily more common throughout the federal government.

Consider the case of the Marlin Toy & Electric Co. This small Wisconsin manufacturer was told by the Food and Drug Administration in November 1972, that two of its most popular toys were hazardous to children and therefore would have to be removed from the market.

The company complied with the order and removed the toys from the market, redesigned them to eliminate all possibility of hazard, and submitted the new toys to the FDA for approval in time for the 1973 Christmas season. And FDA did approve.

Happy ending? No. The Consumer Product Safety Commission, another federal agency, neglected to remove the Marlin products from its holiday list of banned toys. Thus, for the second Christmas season in a row, Marlin was unable to sell its two best-selling products.

THE COMMISSION apologized to Marlin for its "editorial error" and promised to correct the mistake in the next issue of its list. But by then the company virtually was out of business, having had to lay off most of its 100 employees.

Marlin cannot even sue — because the Federal Tort Claims Act does not permit recovery for such offenses as misrepresentation or false statements by federal authorities. Sen. Proxmire (D-Wis.) and Helms (R-N.C.) and Rep. Kastenmeier (D-Wis.) have introduced private bills in an attempt to compensate the company. But that's a 1-shot remedy, at best.

As we see it

Inn safety must be determined

The fact that the City of Romulus in January approved a certificate of occupancy and in June an operator's license for the Abbey Inn, and then in August plans to take the motel owner to court for alleged building and fire protection code violations, doesn't seem right.

But placing fault with the city for certifying a building or with the motel owner for allegedly having an unsafe building is not important. What is important is the safety for the people who stay in the motel on Merriman Road.

Regardless if the city placed its stamp of approval on the motel earlier this year, if the motel is unsafe Romulus should see to it that the business is closed down.

If the city made a mistake on June 4 and declared the motel to be "absolutely fire proof and in good condition," then that mistake should be rectified for the safety of anyone staying at or working in the Abbey Inn.

But the attorney for the inn, Albert Sugar, said the move by Romulus officials "smacks of harassment, and Abbey Inn is interested in defending its good name."

Romulus Mayor Terry L. Troutt is charging that "it is a wood, pre-fab type of building with no fire doors or stairwell doors and it would melt down in nothing flat, if there really was a big fire there."

And Sugar counters that the city codes does not require masonry walls and that the wood used in the building is "treated and fire resistant."

Aside from that he said Abbey Inn recently called in an engineering architect who gave the inn a clean bill of health.

The safety of Abbey Inn must be determined. It should be closed down if it does not meet safety codes. Or its good name should be cleared if it does.

Regardless, a decision on Abbey Inn must be made soon. The safety for the hundreds of residents who stay in the motel monthly is at stake.

Small town editors are not experts in the field of economics. If they were, they wouldn't be small town editors, but probably would be working for the government or some large corporation, becoming independently wealthy and preparing to retire at a very early age. In fact it seems almost ludicrous for someone who has trouble with his own check stubs to be issuing opinions on the state of the nation's economy, but there is the growing suspicion here that whoever is in charge of this nation's economy is having trouble with their check stubs, too.

The question whether to raise or to lower taxes absorbed the U.S. Senate with a filibuster, and after all that shoving and hauling there seems to be more confusion than ever.

THERE IS THE point of view that Congress should cut taxes for the poor to help them combat inflation.

Nonsense, cry opponents, that's the worst possible thing to do, because it would make more purchasing power available to buy scarce goods and thereby bid up prices.

Without trying to sound too simplistic about the issue, it would seem to us that they are arguing not about taxes, but inflation. And to carry the ball a bit further while we have it, it also would seem to us that inflation is really the biggest problem facing our nation today, and that includes Watergate, the Middle East, Vietnam and the energy crisis, to name a few.

By the time the November elections roll around, inflation probably will be the No. 1 issue, and hopefully the voters will be remembering that it is the government who is among the major culprits in the inflationary spiral.

"INFLATION FOR the rich man means switching from sirloin to less expensive meat cuts, but for the poor it may mean buying cans of dog food or going hungry."

"Poverty-stricken Americans, Congressional hearings indicate, are poorer and hungrier than four years ago."

Voice of the people

He offers plea for the priceless gift of sight

To The Editor: I would like to ask your help in a state-wide project of mine for the blind. My object is to reach as many people as I possibly can to stimulate interest in the plight of legally blind people.

There are more than 275 people in Michigan that are blind or are progressively going blind. The sad fact about this is that these people can regain 100 per cent of their sight. I hope to impress people with the need, the importance, the meaning and the know how in donating one's eyes or someone's close to them (husband's, son's, daughter's etc).

I have been legally blind for 3 1/2 years and have been waiting for 20 months — over 1 1/2 years — for a call from the ophthalmologist saying he has received a donor eye suitable for a corneal transplant — the grafting of the clear part of the eye from a donor to a person with a deformed cornea.

I have heard about a woman in Grand Rapids who has been waiting well over two years and three people in the Port Huron vicinity who have been waiting a year each.

There also are 250 more spread throughout the rest of Michigan.

Eyes can be donated even if somebody wears glasses. This does not affect the use of the clear corneal tissue. Even some totally blind people's eyes can be used.

Does removal of the eyes mar the appearance of the body? No. Enucleation (removal) of eyes is carefully done and modern morticians close the eyes so skillfully that they appear normal.

Eyes for transplants have to be removed within two to four hours after death. They are good for corneal transplants for approximately 24 to 48 hours.

Any eye from a person between one and fifty years of age can be used even those who have had certain types of operations. In the event a patient is not available within the time limit needed to use fresh tissue, the eyes are shipped to eye-banks to allow for redistribution else where.

If a donated eye is diseased or cannot be used for grafting it is carefully studied in research to help find causes and cures for blindness. If there is any doubt as to whether the eye is suitable or not, I suggest this judgment be left to the eye surgeon.

It certainly takes a lot of courage and self-restraint to think and help someone else when a close member of the family dies. It is obviously a very traumatic situation and that is why one must think about it now and ready himself before the shock of death happens.

It is extremely difficult to approach the father and mother whose son has just died and ask for his eyes.

It seems callous and crude to disturb the people but the fact is the son is dead; nothing will bring him back, and what could be a better eulogy than to have part of this person "live" and be used to complete and help fulfill another human's life instead of rotting away in a grave.

One can get donating material and donor cards by contacting their nearest Lion's Club or by writing to me.

Resident criticizes city for its stand on alcohol

To The Editor: Having lived in Belleville for more than 40 years and the past few in Van Buren Township, I thought I knew the temperament of the local officials.

But this latest idea to stop the Victory Park problems of rowdiness by abolishing alcoholic beverages from the park is reminiscent of prohibition. We all know what a huge success that was.

By following this line of reasoning we would take all cars off the road because of drinking drivers or confiscate firearms because they are used to kill in some instances.

Probably the best solution is for the county to give the park to the city and make a parking lot there.

I can't believe the City of Belleville is afraid to use a little muscle in the right proportions and places.

Turkey proves 'might right'

To The Editor: Turkey is proving again that "might is right."

Our so-called friends and allies are conducting an unprecedented slaughter of the Cyprian populace. One which the free world has not seen in the 20th century.

And all in the pretence of protecting the Turkish minority.

Equipped with our latest war material, know how and money, this Turkish force is indiscriminately bombing Cyprian civilians who are poorly defended by their national guard which is equipped by ancient pre-World War II rifles.

Shame on this free world and especially on our statesmen who have not spoken in the name of humanity.

You must speak and soon. The Cyprian people need your help. And now. Won't you send a telegram to the President or the Sens. Fulbright, Jackson, Kennedy, Hart or Griffin.

MARSHMALLOWS FOR BREAKFAST? — This warm breakfast is quick and simple to prepare for mom, delicious for the youngsters. Marshmallow topping makes it a special treat for those chilly fall and winter mornings.

For school children

Warm meal is a must

During the chilly winter months that envelope much of the school year, a warm breakfast in the morning tastes good and gives a lasting warmth on the inside. But mothers in the Western Wayne County area are busy, too, and breakfasts that require lots of preparation just aren't practical for housewives who still want their children to be sent off with a hearty breakfast. A speedy solution to this dilemma is this delicious hot treat made with quick-cooking rice cereal.

First bring to a boil 3 1/2 cups water mixed with 1/4 teaspoon salt, using a 10-inch skillet. Sprinkle in 1/4 cup quick-cooking rice cereal, stirring so boiling does not stop. Cook and stir over moderate heat, 30 seconds.

Cover and let stand for 3 minutes.

Combine 1/4 cup sugar with 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon. Sprinkle the mixture over the cereal, and top with marshmallows. Broil three to four inches from heat until marshmallows start to melt and are golden, about two to three minutes.

Marshmallows can be arranged over the cereal in all kinds of designs.

The recipe makes five servings.

For a slight variation, omit the sugar, cinnamon and cereal with 1/4 cup orange sections and drizzle with 1/4 cup honey.

Try a 'BPO'

August is sandwich month, a good time to introduce this tempting bacon treat that promises to rival the popular "BLT". Simply pan fry three strips of bacon for each sandwich, remove to absorbent paper and pour off drippings. Spread each of two slices of bread with one tablespoon of crunchy peanut butter. Place bacon and slices of onion between the peanut-buttered sides of the bread slices and grill in the pan in which the bacon was cooked. This unique taste trio is delicious.

EYE-OPENER SANDWICHES — These eye-opener sandwiches help start the day off right. And these energy-packed breakfast sandwiches are a quick and easy morning treat that will send Western Wayne County students off to school ready for a hard day of learning.

Bread bakes on grill

Faced with the dilemma of offering something different for the hungry hoard and the hot, sticky August weather excludes any really creative culinary treats? Try serving up freshly baked bread to accompany the meal and forget about the weather.

Backyard barbecuers can add fresh home-baked bread to their list of outdoor specialties with a little help from a covered kettle-type grill and some no-need-to-knead frozen bread dough.

Great for pigs-in-the-blanket, the dough can be wrapped around the cheese-stuffed frankfurters and baked in a foil pan without a worry about heating up the cool house.

The makers of the frozen bread dough, Rhodes, offers instructions on baking the bread on a Weber-type grill. However, they caution bakers to plan ahead by being sure the loaves are thoroughly thawed before baking.

Place two lightly greased loaves of the frozen bread dough in two 1-pound bread pans, also lightly greased. Let bread thaw and rise at room temperature until the dough has risen an inch or more above the top of the pans. The estimated time would be four to five hours.

Prepare the grill for cooking by the indirect method following the instructions for the outdoor appliance. When the coals are covered with gray ash, it's time to bake the bread.

Center the bread pans on the cooking grill and cover with the kettle top. Allow the loaves to bake from 30 to 45 minutes or until nicely browned.

When done, remove the loaves from the pans and allow to cool on a wire rack before serving.

Breakfast helps start the day; Try a nutritious energy lifter

We all know that a good breakfast helps you start the day off right. It keeps you mentally alert and feeling good throughout the morning. However, in spite of our good intentions, many of us skip breakfast entirely.

Of course it is understandable. Early morning is probably the busiest time of day in most households. The kids are rushing to catch the school bus, Dad is off to work, and in many cases Mom also must be on the job at 9 a.m. But breakfast doesn't have to be an elaborate sit-down meal to be a nutritious energy lifter.

DELICIOUS eye-opener sandwiches can help you solve this morning meal crisis.

Start by spreading peanut butter or cream cheese on crisp, hot toast. Add bacon, fresh or canned fruit and your favorite jam or jelly for a tasty treat no one will want to pass up.

Served with a glass of milk, these protein-packed sandwiches give you a fairly nutritious breakfast with very little effort.

STRAWBERRY CREAM TOAST

1 package (8-ounces) cream cheese, softened

1/2 cup cut-up mandarin oranges

1/2 teaspoon candied ginger, chopped

6 slices white toast or 4 English muffins, split and toasted

3/4 cup strawberry preserves

Blend cream cheese and oranges; stir in candied ginger. Let set several minutes to blend flavors. Spread on hot toast and top with Strawberry Preserves. Garnish with whole mandarin orange slices. Makes six to eight servings.

WARM AND YUMMY TOAST

1 cup peanut butter

1/4 cup crumbled cooked bacon

6 slices toasted whole wheat or white bread

1 medium banana, sliced

3/4 cup apple butter

Combine peanut butter and bacon. Spread on toast. Top with apple butter and slices of banana. Place on baking sheet. Heat at 350 degrees F. for five minutes. Serve warm. This sandwich is also very tasty unheated. Makes six servings.

PEANUTTY CONCORD SANDWICHES

1/2 cup grape jelly

1/4 cup honey

1 cup crunchy peanut butter

16 slices whole wheat, white or protein bread

Heat grape jelly with honey, stirring to blend into a smooth mixture; cool. Spread half of the bread with peanut butter and grape-honey; top with other half of bread. Makes eight servings.

Family reunions are for fun and 'catching up'

By LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

How many of you have ever been to a family reunion? If we were to take a poll of only half our readers, I'd bet that at least 50 percent have been invited to one. And if, perchance, you're in the other half — you've no idea the fun you've missed. Maybe this is the year for you to contact the relatives and get together for one big bash...

Reunions operate in various ways but the one almost unanimous method for food planning is the co-op dinner or "pot luck" where each of the distaff side contributes a dish or two. And where each tries to outdo the other with her cooking skills.

And since the advent of "the Coloné!", more often than not the meat department includes buckets of you-know-what for the main course.

SPEAKING FROM EXPERIENCE (since we annually receive four reunion notices each summer, and usually attend two) I can give you a resume of the who-what-where-when and why of the occasions.

All the descendants of, let's say John and Jane Doe, are traced and cards sent to inform them the clan will be meeting on a particular day (usually a Sunday) for a pot-luck dinner and activities. At an earlier time, families met at each others' homes but with the addition of more and more parks, groups have favored the convenience of grills, pools, playground equipment, tables and covered pavilions over the enormous task of hauling in all the seating and eating necessities.

Relatives have been known to fly in from the farthest spots to meet with their aunts, uncles and cousins and, quite often, they take home a prize for having traveled the longest distance. And when it comes to awards (which most groups take into consideration) good old Uncle Pete or Aunt Maude are proud to admit being the eldest of the clan and are many times photographed with the youngest on their laps — all for posterity, of course.

The bachelors and senior citizens in the group and those "I hate to cook" types especially welcome the reunion as a time for real home cooking since such culinary delights as lemon meringue or coconut cream pie, devilsfood cake, stuffed cabbage, baked beans from-scratch, and all those other goodies are wont to please most any palate.

USUALLY THERE are officers to conduct business meetings and, very often, statistics are collected for the family log. Committees are appointed for the entertainment end of the proceedings as well, and there are contests of all sorts for each and every age group. Sack races, egg throwing contests, water-filled balloon tosses (it often turns out to be a very soggy party), and good-old-bingo are but a few of the ways to pass an afternoon. Of course baseball games and horseshoes are favorite means of getting everyone off their benches.

But probably the most interesting parts of any get-together are the rap sessions where cousin Ruth gets to meet cousin

Mary's latest beau, when Aunt Edith beamingly presents her first grandchild or Grandma Doe accepts accolades for being the matriarch of such a huge menage. Great-uncle Elmer may announce he's retiring and moving to Florida or young cousin Billie might produce the trophy he earned at the 4-H Fair.

Anyway you cut it, it's news, it's interesting and it's fun to be part of a family.

They've celebrated their 18th

Among the more seasoned reunionites are the Sobolewski descendants who got together recently for their 18th year. The Fox Woods area at Metro Park was the designated site for 80 relatives and guests who motored from Novi, Detroit, Garden City, Westland, Southgate, Dearborn, Belleville and Romulus.

The afternoon commenced with a buffet dinner followed by fun and games with winners in the kid's division being Cindy Savage, Jimmy Hughes, Darryl Maxim, Michael Oneck, Jerry Lundquist Jr., Lynn Steffke and Chris Liedel.

Taking home awards for their adult capabilities were Fred and Marie Barnett, Tom Lundquist and Denise Liedel.

The highlight of the day (making the biggest splash) was the egg-tossing contest with Shirley Oneck and Nick Savage ending up as eggs-perts.

Honored guests present were Caroline Servis, 73, Roxie Lundquist, 74, and Tony Sobolewski, 69, the remaining members of Anthony and Frances Sobolewski's 13 children. Each was presented with a special memento of the occasion.

Planning this year's event were the senior Jerry Lundquists and the Tom Lundquists. Next year's hosts will be Mr. and Mrs. Bob Demski and their children and families.

Another group renews ties

Relatives of the late Frank and Vera Belleville were invited to the home of the R.L. Belvilles of DeWitt Road, Belleville, August 11 to renew old acquaintances and to help their host celebrate his 39th (?) birthday.

The picnic affair included the host family—Bob, Lory and their son, Rick—as well as Wendell and Midge Belleville and son, David, of this city; John and Marise Belleville and son, Gary, from Algonac; Dick and Coleen Powers of Ypsilanti and Henry and Barbara Thimmes and son of Taylor.

Still others were Pat and Sharon Powers of Belleville; Ed and Sharon Andrews and son and Bob and Judy Belleville and daughter, all from Westland; Larry and Sharell Belleville and son, Scott, of Wayne and Russell Belleville from Mt. Grove, Mo. Neighbors, Bud and Ester Clouston and daughter, Eva, also joined in the celebration.

Gary Thimmes, age 18 months, was the youngest member of the family tree. His "elders" must all be fairly young since no one could contend to be the oldest.

Bauers are 'first-timers'

Among the novices in the reunion category are the Bauers who met for their first annual conclave August 4. The Gaylord (Dutch) Bauer home on Clayton Road in Belleville was the gathering spot for some 48 relatives.

Dutch and his family have had a busy summer and filled the clan in on their doings which began with David's graduation in June and Boy Scout Troop 754's weekly meetings at the Bauers. Dutch, incidentally, recently resigned his position as District Commissioner of the Huron District Boy Scouts of America but is still seeing to 754's activities.

Mrs. Bauer carries out the family's interest in the scout movement by having been co-leader of Junior Girl Scout Troop at Quirk School. This fall she'll take on the Cadette girls.

Then there's Jackie Bauer who's been studying law enforcement at Washtenaw Community College where her marks earned her a place on the Dean's List. She'll be leaving in October for a three-year program with the U.S. Army's Military Police Training at Fort Hood.

David, too, will be part of Uncle Sam's forces since he enlisted in the army and will report to Fort Sill, Okla., to study welding later this year.

Jill Bauer, a Cadette Scout, has been at Camp Linden for two weeks with her friend, Kay Dickerson, and that about rounds out the Scout news for the Bauer bevy.

Billy's one and it's fun

A whole year has passed since William Barrett Emerson arrived on this planet and to mark his first birthday there was a party for the neighborhood kids out Martinsville Road way.

Billy's mom and dad, Mary Ann and Bill Emerson, had the garage bedecked with balloons and saw that there were plenty of hot dogs, ice cream and cake for the noon festivities. And, too, there was a miniature cake topped with whipped cream — just for Billy's pleasure (his "messy" pleasure we might add.)

On hand to celebrate the occasion were the birthday boy's grandmothers, Helen Sietz and Marge Emerson, as well as his uncle, aunt and cousin, Dick, Grace and Bradley Sietz from Trenton (Whitney missing from the scene since she was vacationing in the South).

Michelle and Susan Shanower were also there with their mom, Penny, and Greg, Mike and Dale Farmer and Theresa, Kathy and Frances Szuma were with their respective mothers, Sandy Farmer and Marge Szuma.

Couple celebrate in Switzerland

The Cravens — George and Doreen — have just returned to home soil after spending a busy week in and about Switzerland. The couple's silver wedding anniversary prompted their jet flight to Europe.

Based in Zurich, the Cravens took various excursions which included many villages in Switzerland, Austria and the 62 square mile principality of Liechtenstein.

George and Doreen winged their way home in time to celebrate their actual wedding date August 12 with a special dinner planned at Detroit's Ponchartrain Wine Cellars.

NOW IS THE TIME TO BUY — Michigan's blueberry crop is in and smart shoppers will buy them now for storage or freezing. Used in a variety of delicious recipes, including tarts, pies, pancakes and turnovers, the succulent berries have long been a favorite of fresh food lovers throughout the state.

Indians were aware of blueberry delight

Long before the white man arrived on this continent the bears and the Indians were enjoying a sweet treat they found growing around here and there.

How long the real natives of our country had been feasting on blueberries is not known, since bears don't talk and the Indians didn't keep a record. They did, however, keep a recipe or two in mind to hand down from generation to generation. Just as we do now.

For instance, here's one that Samuel de Champlain recorded in his journal in 1616. He found Indians near Lake Huron gathering blueberries for their winter store. "After drying the berries in the sun, the Indians beat them into a powder and added this powder to parched meal to make a dish called Sautautigh. We found it to be delicious."

Like the Americans who came later to settle his land, the American Indian apparently had a year-round hunger for blueberries. Lewis and Clark on their journey into the Northwest Territory found Indians smoke-drying blueberries to use during the winter in stews, soups and with meats.

Way back then, blueberry lovers knew that this little plump berry had a way of dispelling the blues. It was, as it's, a happy idea — a tasteful treat to bring smiles to people's faces. And if a bear ever smiles it has to be when he wanders into a blueberry patch.

A fine way to bring about happy expressions is to prepare and serve the recipes shown here. The Very Blueberry Pie is a classic. It doesn't go back as far as the first settlers, but the original recipe was said to have been devised by a man who ran a post house on the Boston Post Road. People planned their trips to stop off at Billingsbrook's inn and many of them insisted it was because they wanted a piece of Billingsbrook's Blueberry Pie. And to hear again his oft-repeated story about how blueberries helped the Pilgrims survive that terrible first winter. The friendly Indians gifted them with blueberries they had preserved.

The lattice-top blueberry pie may seem more traditional to many. That's because this form of decorating pies has always been used by American homemakers. It began with mincemeat pies in England at Christmastime. The lattice-top represents the haystack of a stable, commemorating the birth of the Christchild in a lowly manger. The pioneer women naturally made their pies out of the fruits they found here — but decorated them in the same way that their mothers had with other fruits in another land.

Modern convenience out of this very convenient berry.

VERY BLUEBERRY PIE
4 cups fresh blueberries, washed and drained
4 cups frozen dry-pack blueberries
1/4 cup cold water
5 tablespoons all-purpose flour
Pinch of salt
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup water
10-inch pie shell
Whipped cream

Wash and drain blueberries thoroughly. Mix together 1/4 cup cold water, flour, salt and make a smooth paste. Bring 1 cup of the blueberries, sugar and 1/2 cup water to a boil. When boiling, add the flour paste and stir until it thickens. Remove from stove and cool. When cool, add the remaining blueberries and put into 10-inch baked pie shell. Refrigerate. When cold, garnish with sweetened whipped cream or whipped topping.

BLUEBERRY LATTICE TOP PIE
1 package pie crust mix
4 cups fresh blueberries, washed and drained or 4 cups frozen dry-pack blueberries or

3 cans (15 oz. ea.) blueberries, well drained
1 cup granulated sugar
3/4 cup cold water
1 peeled orange, coarsely chopped
1/4 cup cornstarch

Prepare pie crust according to package directions. Roll out two-thirds of the pie crust and use to line a 9" pie pan. Put blueberries into saucepan. Add sugar, 1/2 cup water and orange. Cook over low heat. Dissolve cornstarch in remaining 1/4 cup water. As soon as blueberry mixture comes to boil, stir in cornstarch. Remove from heat. When cool, spoon into pie crust. Roll out remaining pie crust and cut into strips. Arrange strips in a lattice over pie filling. Crimp edges. Bake in a preheated hot oven (400 degrees F.) for 35 to 40 minutes or until brown. Cool before cutting.

BLUEBERRY COOKIE TARTS
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1/2 cup confectioners' sugar
1/2 cup water
2 tablespoons lime juice
2 cups fresh blueberries, washed and drained
or
2 cups frozen dry-pack blueberries
or
1 can (15 oz.) blueberries, well drained
1 cup (1/2 pt.) heavy cream, whipped
8 (3-inch) tart shells
8 small cookies
Mix together cornstarch and sugar. Stir in water and lime juice. Add 1/2 cup blueberries. Cook while stirring until mixture thickens. Cool. Fold in remaining blueberries. Whip cream. Fold into filling and spoon into tart shells. Top with cookies. Yield: 8 tarts.

Criss-Gram ceremony is a family affair

The recent marriage of Mrs. Velma E. Gram of Port Huron and O. David Criss of Belleville was a true "family affair" since all the participants were immediate relatives.

Mrs. Gram's son, The Rev. William E. Gram, performed the July 13 ceremony at the Grace Baptist Church in Belleville. Her daughter, Mrs. Pearl Barry of Gaylord, was honor attendant and the bridegroom's son, David E. Criss of Tecumseh, was best man.

The bride's two grandsons,

Phillip and Paul Gram, were soloist and usher, respectively.

Her eldest sister, Mrs. Edward Elsdon, traveled from Webster, Fla. for the occasion. Other relatives were from Port Huron, Imlay City, Traverse City and Gaylord. A reception followed in the church hall.

The newlyweds recently returned from a honeymoon trip in Ontario, Canada where they visited the bride's 92-year old father as well as other relatives. They are now at home at 90 Wexford Ave., Belleville.

Smart buyers freeze foods at sale time

Smart shoppers in Western Wayne County often freeze the many fruits and vegetables available during the peak growing season for use during the colder months when supermarket prices for such items rise.

For instance, the peak season for blueberries in Michigan is August, so a wise shopper may choose to stock up on fresh blueberries while they are available now.

But before stocking your home freezer, make sure it actually freezes. Food Inspection officials of the Michigan Department of Agriculture say freezer temperatures should be set at zero degrees Fahrenheit or lower for best results. Food held at 15 degrees may feel solid but is less firmly frozen than food at zero degrees. When held the same length of time, the zero degree food will be superior in color, flavor and texture.

You can check your freezer temperature with a freezer or outdoor thermometer. As a rule of thumb, if it can't keep ice cream brick solid, the temperature is above the recommended level.

To get the greatest use out of your freezer and reduce operating cost per pound of food, MDA officials recommend you keep it fully stocked and maintain a rapid rate of turnover, at least every six months.

When using a seasonal plan you are more likely to meet your family's needs and preferences. Food will have better flavor and food value if not held for the maximum storage period.

Stretch food dollars by buying fruits and vegetables now, at the peak of Michigan's growing season. Most quality fruits and vegetables may be frozen from 8 to 12 months in moisture-proof materials such as aluminum foil, polyethylene bags, freezer film wrap, and plastic freezer containers.

Michigan is tops in the nation in blueberry production and freezing blueberries is an easy process.

Select plump, firm berries with a dark blue color and silvery bloom. MDA officials say the silvery bloom is a protective waxy coating provided by nature to seal in flavor and juices.

Some home economists recommend you blanch berries for about one minute, to keep skins tender. They may be frozen either sugared or unsugared. Package in convenient size containers, label, seal and store immediately. You can use them all year 'round.

If blueberry pie is a favorite in your household, why not prepare several pints of pie filling at one time and store in your freezer? Fresh fruit pie fillings can be stored from four to six months.

Or, you can prepare whole berry pies, baked or unbaked, and freeze, allowing about one pint of filling for an 8-inch pie. Buy fresh Michigan beef, pork and poultry in quantity when specials are offered by area supermarkets. Approximate storage time at zero degrees varies for different cuts so it's best to check a reliable freezer storage chart for guidelines.

Women of Moose have busy month

Belleville Women of the Moose held a Chapter Night program Aug. 12 at which Mrs. George Steger was star recorder. Many outside chapters were present to hear Myrtle Haven, Dean of Academy of Friendship from Lansing, give the main address. Eva Ott of Adrian was pianist for the evening.

The recent picnic was a success with many gifts given away. Thanks are due to Ed Engel and his committee who handled the arrangements.

Mr. and Mrs. William Grove are the proud parents of a 9 lb. boy who was named William Jr., it was announced.

Fish fries will soon be resuming and members are reminded to reserve Friday for "dinner out."

Community news

Relatives and friends arrive from out of town

Karen Bird, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Bird of Annapolis, Md., was a recent visitor of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Frigard of Church Street and Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Bird of Potter Drive. On her way to Belleville she had visited her uncle and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Frigard in Minneapolis, and will be seeing friends in Port Clinton, Ohio before returning home.

Former residents of Belleville, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pruneau of Brea, Calif. were recent callers of Mrs. Cora Bradshaw of Bedell Street and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bradshaw of Ypsilanti.

Mrs. Robert Smaligo of East Keyport, Pa. spent a week with her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Howard (Edna) Florian of S. Liberty Street, Belleville.

Romulus Sr. Citizens hold bazaar

Romulus Senior Citizens Club No. 1 held its bazaar Aug. 1 through 3 at Metro Mall in Wayne and it was a "huge" success.

The Senior Citizens had worked for months to prepare hand made quilts, afghans and many more lovely pieces for sale including ceramics. A raffle was held on Aug. 3 at 5 p.m. The lucky winners were: First prize, full size quilt to Bernice Casey of 11111 Grover, Romulus; Second prize, afghan to Lois Heard of 5876 Colorado, Romulus; and third prize, a twin size quilt to Gar Wood of 1005 N. Stephan, Royal Oak.

The lucky tickets were picked by shoppers in the mall who were given small gifts for their time.

The club is looking forward to having a Christmas bazaar, and hopes to hold it in the first week of December.

Miss Aldine Potter of Liberty Street and Mrs. Henry Potter of Wabash Street were in Elk Rapids at the Potter chalet this past week. They were accompanied by Lissa and Morton Potter Jr. of Wayne along with a friend of Lissa, Barbara Hodgkins.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Clayton of Bedell Street entertained their grandsons, Eric and Robert van Binder of Petersburg, this past week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Wiggett of Phoenix, Ariz. former residents of this area, have been visiting relatives and friends in the vicinity and on Saturday evening were dinner guests of the Leon J. Boldts of Roland Street.

The Senior Citizens picnic was held this past week at the homes of Aldine Potter and Mrs. Earl Jacox with approximately 50 guests present.

William Gouger of Mecosta, former resident of Belleville, has been in the hospital at Big Rapids for some time and is expecting to return home soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Carey of Liberty Street have been entertaining the latter's sister, Mrs. Blanche Scott of Detroit, this past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Deering of Columbia Avenue and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Brown of Ypsilanti attended a concert at Hill Auditorium in Ann Arbor last Thursday evening. The concert was given by the Musical Youth International with students from Michigan and Ohio. This group of 110 members of the band and chorus has just returned from Europe where they spent five weeks on a concert tour. The Ann Arbor concert was the grand finale.

A member in the band section was Duane Luick of Chelsea, a grandson of the Browns.

Morton Potter Sr. of Wabash Street and his two children, Lissa and Morton Jr., returned recently from an extended tour through Canada.

Last week Mrs. Ray VanSickle, Mrs. Harold Leschinski, Mrs. Emma Bawden and Mrs. Florence Fielder, all of Belleville, and Mrs. Marion Douglas of Ypsilanti, spent a day in Frankenmuth.

Mrs. H. R. (Jean) Stinehour of E. Huron River Drive, Belleville, is recuperating at home after her stay at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor. She was a surgical patient for over a week.

Mida-Skszek married at Holy Trinity Chapel

Karen Skszek, a senior at Eastern Michigan University, chose Holy Trinity Chapel on campus for her August 10 marriage to William R. Mida, a former E.M.U. student.

The Rev. Robert Kerr officiated the double ring rite at 4 p.m. before some 300 relatives and friends. Mary (Wojtowicz) Smith and Susan Watson, two high school classmates of the couple, provided music for the ceremony. Mrs. Smith was at the organ to play the processional and recessional arrangements while Miss Watson accompanied herself on the guitar as she sang "Never My Love" and "The Wedding Song."

The summer rite united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Skszek of 4899 Expressway, Belleville, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Mida of 44960 Robson Rd., Belleville.

ESCORTED TO the sanctuary by her father, Karen appeared in a toe-touching creation of nylon mira mist and cotton Venice lace. Fashioned with a high-rise waistline, the lace bodice featured a square neck and long sheer sleeves cuffed in lace. The lace motif was repeated above the wide flounce which edged the skirt and chapel train.

The bride's lace Juliet cap, accented with simulated pearl clusters, secured her fingertip veil of nylon illusion. Complementing her bridal finery was a bouquet of white carnations, yellow rosebuds, baby's breath and trailing ivy.

The quartet of bridesmaids was headed by the maid of honor Lori Clark of Ypsilanti, the bride's college roommate. Luanne Smith, a childhood friend of the bride, came from Kalamazoo College to serve in the wedding. Another life-long friend, Sharon Patke, a student at Central Michigan University, and the bride's cousin, Michelle Jurko of Royal Oak, completed the bridal cortege.

Their identically-styled knit gowns in apricot, yellow, pink and mint green, respectively, were made with sleeveless turtleneck bodices covered with long-sleeved, midriff-tied jackets. They wore soft-brimmed white nylon straw hats and carried little nosegays of rainbow-colored carnations.

ROBERT MIDA of Belleville was his brother's best man. Tim Skszek was home from Western Michigan University to serve as groomsmen at his sister's wedding along with Lynn Mida of Belleville, the bridegroom's younger brother, and Jim Krzewski of East Detroit, the bride's cousin.

Seating the guests were the bridegroom's brother-in-law, Roger Fry of Belleville, and the bride's cousin, Tom McLinden of Royal Oak.

The rings were carried to the altar on white satin pillows by two three-year old tots, Martin Duda, the bride's cousin, and Rodney Fry, the bridegroom's nephew.

At the reception, which followed at the Brentwood House in Melvindale, the bride's mother received in a yellow, white and green floral chiffon gown with a long companion coat. The bridegroom's mother chose to wear a pink chiffon gown with a lace bodice. Both were presented with gardenia corsages.

OTHERS HONORED with corsages were the couple's grandmothers, Mrs. Sarah Duda, 73, of Detroit, and Mrs. Viola Cooper, 76, who came from Auburn, N.Y. for her grandson's wedding. The bride's God-mother, Mrs. Helen Krzewski of Detroit, and her husband's God-mother, Mrs. Roseann Bazzell of Westland, also received flowers.

Following an eight-day honeymoon in Hawaii, the newlyweds will make their home at 7051 Belleville Rd., Belleville.

Both young people are 1971 graduates of Belleville High School. Karen is currently working part-time at West Point Realty in Ypsilanti and Bill is an apprentice electrician with Shaw Electric of Livonia.

The Herbert Midas played host at the rehearsal party held Friday night at Bimbo's in Ypsilanti.

Oelke-Ery to be wed in winter

The engagement and December wedding of their daughter, Brenda Marie Oelke, and Kenneth Lee Ery are announced by Mr. and Mrs. Grant B. Oelke of 1020 E. Huron River Dr., Belleville.

The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Jesse Ery of 42205 E. Huron River Dr., Belleville, and the late Mr. Ery.

Miss Oelke is employed in the registrar's office of the University of Michigan and her fiancé works for the Ford Motor Co. at Rawsonville.

The First United Methodist Church of Belleville has been reserved for their December 7 wedding.

Girl Scout volunteers are needed

There is a need for adult volunteers in Girl Scouting for the Harrison School area. Whether you have a half-hour each week or several hours to spare, you are needed!

The only qualifications are that you be 18 years of age and have an interest in working with girls.

For further information, call 941-4106 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Rotisserie cooking's in season

When serving a cookout crowd, remember that large cuts of beef such as a tip, boneless chuck eye, cross rib, boneless rump and rib eye roasts are ideal choices. Or if your fancy turns to pork, select a boneless ham or a boneless pork loin roast fashioned by tying together two pieces of pork loin. Insert the rotisserie rod lengthwise through the center of the roast and test for balance by rotating in palms of hands. Fasten roast securely so that it turns only with the rod. A drip pan, placed under the meat, will prevent flareups.

ADULT EDUCATION — Adult students enrolled in the Romulus School District Adult Education Program will have the opportunity to complete high school equivalency exams at no charge, representing a substantial personal savings when compared to the fees normally charged. Students shown here ponder a mathematics problem, reminiscent of the days when they attended school as youngsters but, for one reason or another, quit before graduation. The Romulus program gives them an opportunity to pick up where they left off.

For equivalency

Adult students save test fees

Romulus area residents will receive an extra bonus, if they sign up for free adult high school classes this September. Enrollment in the Romulus program prior to Sept. 27 will allow a student to take the General Educational Development (GED) high school equivalency examination completely free of charge, said William Smith, community school director. Testing fees usually run between $10 and $15, he added. Smith said he hopes the new policy will encourage more adult students to return to school. Last year 52 adults earned high school diplomas from Romulus adult education while 19 students successfully passed the GED test. Classes will be held in several Romulus locations starting Sept. 16, and are offered free to any adult who has not graduated from high school. The locations include Romulus Senior High School for evening classes and the Romulus Public Library, Kelsey-Hayes and Oakbrooke Townhouses for day classes. A brochure describing all community school programs will be mailed to Romulus residents Sept. 1. Early registration is encouraged.

Romulus driver wins in road safety contest

A 26-year-old Romulus race car driver, who has had one moving violation and no accidents in 10 years of driving, was judged Good Driver of 1974 recently in an annual contest sponsored by the Traffic Safety Association of Detroit and the Detroit Police Department.

Competing against four other finalists — all with exemplary records — James Howard was selected after a 10-mile road test over Detroit freeways and surface streets. Judging the competition was Dr. Robert O. Nolan, professor of driver education at Michigan State University. Howard was presented with a $100 savings bond by William Slade, marketing district manager for Marathon Oil Co., which participated in the contest for the fourth consecutive year. Howard is a glass contract estimator who pilots a race car on the side. He said his driving style is completely different when he drives in a race than when he is on the public streets or highways. "Your personality changes in a race, you become aggressive," he said. "When I drive on streets and highways I automatically replace that aggressiveness with caution and courtesy." His one ticket was for driving five miles over the speed limit, he added. Police and safety officials said this was not unusual because Corvettes, the type of car Howard drives on the street, attract more than the normal amount of attention from police officers. And their drivers receive more than the usual number of tickets, they added.

Alumni hold search

The alumni Association of Cleary College in Ypsilanti has asked all graduates of the school to contact the group immediately in an effort to update all graduate files before an alumni reunion planned for October.

Graduates were asked to send current resident information to Carol Jones at the college.

The first Cleary alumni reunion to be held in 90 years has been scheduled for Oct. 19 on the school campus, with a full day of activities planned for all graduates in attendance.

Cleary College is a specialized business school founded in 1883. Degrees in management, accounting and secretarial sciences are offered.

College lists 14 residents as candidates for degrees

Fourteen Western Wayne County residents have been included among the 2,700 students listed as degree candidates by the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor at the close of the summer term.

Those from Belleville are: Sidney M. Bernman of 11511 Rickman Dr., Nancy E. Creed of 24881 Ka r, Terry A. Lanker of 373 Rustic Lane, Dennis A.

Miller of 13273 Lake Pointe, Ronald Myszkowski of 43242 Huron River Dr., Harriet C. Onufer of 15487 Haggerty, Steven D. Reiley of 51074 Mott, Judith A. Sprunger of 48051 Expressway and Michael R. Zevalkink of 421 Rustic Lane.

Included from Romulus were: Saralee Cook of 6042 Airborne, Melvin C. Cross of 35431 Vinewood, Mark E. English of 6045 Wayne, Roy W. Howard of 15605 Sandburg and Thomas J. Van Loon of 9995 Diane.

College to offer dieting course

Schoolcraft College will offer an 8-week course on low-fat, low-cholesterol diets from 7-9 p.m. beginning Sept. 30.

The course will be taught by Katherine Crossman, R.D., M.S., who previously taught a similar course which was received quite well by those who attended.

The course fee for residents of Clarenceville, Garden City, Livonia, Northville and Plymouth school districts will be $11. For those outside these designated areas, a fee of $22 will be charged.

Armenians stage festival

Western Wayne County residents of Armenian decent will have a chance to offer their heritage, music, cultural and food to the Detroit metropolitan area when they take over the riverfront behind Cobo Hall for the 11th ethnic festival of the summer.

The festival will begin at 6:30 p.m. Friday and continue Saturday and Sunday.

Armenian Festival Queen Beverly Cholakian, 20, of Detroit will be on hand for the festivities.

FREE ENTERTAINMENT will include folk music by local soloists Margaret Lafian Oldfield, Arlene Halagian, Stephen Karougian and Mike Darian. There will be dancing by the Vahakon Dance Ensemble. Dorothy Artinian

Entertainment

Nowacki and Jackie Melkorian, and the music of three bands — Hachig Kazarian and his Ensemble, the Johnites and the Erevan Ensemble.

Three metropolitan Armenian churches have combined to plan and carry out the activities for the weekend. They include St. John's Armenian Apostolic Church, St. Sarkis Armenian Apostolic Church and the Armenian Congregational Church.

the Armenian Students Association and will provide historical information, maps, and artifacts.

A semi-documentary film, "Where Are My People," will be viewed Friday and Saturday evening. The film is a history of the Armenian people and their experiences from 304 A.D. to the 20th century, including the deportation of the Armenians by Ottoman Turks.

SHISH-KEBOB AND pilaf dinners will be available, plus corn on the cob, beda and choreg (breads), lamahjoon (lamb pizza), katta (yeast dough rolled and buttered), stuffed grape leaves, lokma fritter balls and bourma (pastry).

Festival hours are 6:30 p.m. to 11 p.m. Friday and noon to 11 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

Disney to return to Olympia

Laughter will set the mood for "Disney On Parade" as it returns for its final engagement at Olympia Stadium on Sept. 10. The musical extravaganza, now touring throughout the world, is scheduled for nine performances through Sept. 15.

For 2½ hours, Mickey Mouse and all the Disney characters will transform fantasy to life in the color productions. Returning are stories like "Further Adventures of Pinocchio," the magic of "Bedknobs and Broomsticks," country-hillbilly music in "Bear Band Jamboree," and Goofy cavorting with "Herbie the Love Bug" in "Used Car Lot."

One of the highlights of this year's show is the magical nanny Mary Poppins flying into Olympia with her umbrella and traveling bag. Some things never change and the cast of Disney joins with the audience for that traditional finale, "It's A Small World."

Zany costumes, special music and classic favorites make this final performance of "Disney On Parade" special.

"Disney On Parade" will be presented at 7:30 P.M. weekdays, at 11 a.m., 3 and 7:30 p.m. Saturday and at 2 and 6 p.m. Sunday. Tickets are $6.50, $5.50, and $4.50. Senior citizens and children 14 and under are admitted at half price, except on Sunday.

Tickets will be available at the Olympia box office. For group sales, contact Donna Martin at the stadium, 895-7000.

Windsor to host festival

The Ann Arbor Blues and Jazz Festival in exile will stage a 3-day musical fest at St. Clair College, Windsor, Ont., Sept. 6-8.

Leading off the gathering will be the James Brown Revue with such renowned performers as the Jimmy Dawkins Blues Band, BB King, Junior Walker and The All Stars and Boogie Woogie Red joining in the shows.

The tickets for the festival are available at a series cost of $22 throughout Western Wayne County.

Church conducts song fest

Music will fill the building during an evening of music at the Berean Baptist Church of Belleville Sunday evening.

Duets, solos, trios and choirs will join in the 7 p.m. performance to fill the church with the "sound of singing and music."

Instrumental music also will be included in the program. The church is located at 6889 Belleville Rd.

GIRL CRAZY — Mel Brooks plays a girl crazy governor in his new comedy film, "Blazing Saddles." Harvey Korman (left) acts as his aide while Robin Hilton awaits diction in the movie. The film is based on a crooked governmental official who attempts to drive the people out of a small town so the land can be sold to the railroads at a huge profit.

HELPING OUT —Members of the Romulus Fire Department were among local units to respond to a fire at the Northside Hardware Store in Wayne last week. Several of the men watched as Westland Deputy Fire Chief Milton Quiring scaled a ladder to survey damage to the roof of the structure. The fire apparently started in a storage area of the store. — Enterprise-Roman photo.

Smokers can get a helpful booklet

An informative booklet, cut down, is available from the Consumer Product Information Center of the Institute publishes wheelchair guide

A new 60-page guide for handicapped persons is available free of charge from The Rehabilitation Institute of Detroit. The booklet contains information on the physical facilities at Detroit area restaurants, hotels, parks, museums, stores, nightclubs, hospitals and churches, and will be mailed directly to interested persons from the institute's volunteer office.

The guide includes a map of the city and a list and description of agencies and services that a visiting or resident handicapped person might need. The bulk of the booklet is comprised of some sorely-needed tips on the type and location of stairs, ramps, lavatories, parking, seating and transportation at various area facilities.

Detroit's Tau Beta Association, a 72-year-old volunteer health organization, financed, researched and published the soft-cover guide. Tau Beta worked closely with The Rehabilitation Institute in preparing the booklet.

Persons interested in obtaining a copy may write the institute at 261 Mack Blvd., Detroit or phone 494-9760.

Center celebrates first anniversary

The first anniversary of "The Number," Belleville crisis-counseling center, will be observed Saturday at 8 p.m.

The birthday party will be held in the High Tide Room, situated at 146 High St.,

Belleville, beneath and at the rear of Hoot's Boots for Shoes.

Persons attending the party are asked to bring their own beverages.

The crisis counseling center will provide chicken snacks.

Entitled, "Unless You Decide to Quit, Your Problem Isn't Going to Be Smoking, Your Problem's Going to Be Staying Alive," the government booklet focuses on the need for a smoker to change his habit patterns in order to quit or cut down his cigarette consumption.

For smokers who have so far found it impossible to quit, the booklet suggests:

—DON'T SMOKE a cigarette down all the way. Smoke halfway and only 40 per cent of the total tar and nicotine in the cigarette will reach the body.

—Take fewer draws on each cigarette, put it in an ashtray between puffs instead of holding it.

—Reduce inhaling. Take short, shallow draws and remember, that is not fresh mountain air coming from the cigarette.

—Smoke fewer cigarettes each day. Pick a time not to smoke, such as before breakfast, on the way to work, or between specified hours. Then make it a habit. Also, make an effort to think each time before picking up a cigarette.

The idea behind all these suggestions, according to the booklet, is to change the smoker's habit patterns.

Local residents tour world as members of armed forces

Cadet Robert L. Repp, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Repp of 30606 California, Romulus, learned the fundamentals of military leadership at Ft. Riley, Kan. He attended the advanced ROTC course last month.

During the 6-week training he was confronted with practical exercises that groomed him for his duties as a second lieutenant in the Army. The encampment also provided an opportunity to practice the theories he learned in the classroom during his past years in the program.

Cadet Repp, a student at the University of Toledo, O., will be commissioned upon completion of the program.

ROBERT L. REPP

Navy Fireman Recruit Michael L. Baisch, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clem Baisch of 9258 Rawsonville Rd., Belleville, graduated from recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill. The training included instruction in seamanship, military regulations, fire fighting, close order drill, first aid and Navy history.

Pvt. Walter L. Chadwick, 19, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Chadwick of 39001 Chase Rd., Romulus, completed eight weeks of basic training at the U.S. Army Training Center, Armor, Ft. Knox, Ky.

He received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, combat tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and army history and traditions.

Robert L. Bailey, the son of

MICHAEL L. BAISCH

Angeline A. Bailey of 37906 Wick Rd., Romulus, has begun basic flight training at Pensacola, Fla.

When he completes Aviation

Officer Candidate School he will be commissioned a second lieutenant and begin more than a year of intensive ground and inflight training leading to his designation as a naval aviator.

A 1974 graduate of Western Michigan University, he holds a bachelor of science degree.

Juan Pablo Verde, the son of Janet Verde of 133 Angola, Belleville, has reported for basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex.

Verde, a 1971 graduate of Belleville High School, will be stationed in Denver for electronics instruction, following completion of the preliminary training.

George A. Belding, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey O. Belding of Belleville, has been assigned to K.I. Sawyer Air Force Base, Mich., from Eielson Air Force Base, Alaska.

An Air Force staff sergeant, Belding is an aircraft maintenance technician with the 410th Field Maintenance Squadron.

He is a 1968 graduate of Belleville High School.

Marine Pfc. Richard M. Coate, the husband of the former Kathy A. Krueger of 38131 Walnut, Romulus, participated in "Solid Shield 74," the only annual Atlantic command exercise which includes forces from all U.S. armed services. He took part in maneuvers off the east coast near the Marine Corps Base at Camp Lejeune, N.C., designed to test the control and coordination of forces.

Marine Pvt. Sandell A. William, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Reddick of 22019 Lafons, Romulus, has completed Infantry Training School at the Marine Corps Base at Camp Pendleton, Calif. He received specialized instruction in infantry weapons and tactics.

Information Specialist Frank T. Jones of the Army's 350th Public Information Detachment in Ann Arbor recently completed two weeks of active training for the U.S. Army Reserves.

In civilian life, Jones, who resides in Belleville, is a pre-production program coordinator with the Ford Motor Co.'s Engine Division in Dearborn.

When asked how his civilian life compared with his military job, Spc. 4 Jones said: "Other than the pay scale both are similar in that they deal with communication. However, the Army gives me more of an opportunity to deal with the total aspect of communication."

Prior to his reserve duty with the 350th P.I. Detachment unit, Jones was on active duty with the 25th U.S. Army Missile Detachment in Wiesbaden, Germany.

Entrants still can sign up

Entries still are being accepted for the 1974 Michigan State Fair horse-pulling and tractor-pulling contests.

Robert McLachlan, supervisor of agriculture and livestock exhibits, said entries for the horse-pulling contest will be accepted through Aug. 23. The competition also covers pony-pulling as well as light and heavy draft horses.

Entry deadline for the tractor-pulling contest, including a souped-up modified class, is Aug. 26.

The horse-pulling will start with ponies at 11 a.m. on Aug. 31 at the grandstand. Light-weight draft horses pull at 2 p.m., followed by the heavyweights at 5 p.m. Total purse for the competition is $6,400.

Tractor drivers will compete for $3,185 starting with the farm class at 3 p.m. on Sept. 2.

The 1974 Michigan State Fair opens Aug. 23 at the State Fairgrounds in Detroit and will run for 11 days, ending Labor Day.

'Y' needs consumer volunteers

The YWCA of Western Wayne County has issued a call for volunteers for the organization's Consumer Action Group.

The volunteers are needed to take telephone calls from people having complaints against merchants or services in the community.

"It is an opportunity to assist people in resolving their differences and at the same time to learn about consumerism," a YWCA spokesman said.

New drug store outlet opens in Van Buren

The appointment of Tim Hamel of Ypsilanti as the manager of Belleville area's new Perry Drug Store has been announced by Jack A. Robinson, president of Perry Drug Stores, Inc., a 33-unit drug store chain.

The 8,500-square foot Perry Drug Store, the 13th new store to be opened by the company this year, is in the Lakewood Shopping Center, situated at Rawsonville Road and I-94 in Van Buren Township.

Hamel received his bachelor of science degree in pharmacy from Ferris State University in 1969. He joined the Perry Drug Store organization in 1972 and until recently was manager of its Rockwood store.

He is a member of the American and Michigan State Pharmaceutical Associations and while in college was president of Phi Delta Chi Fraternity, recipient of the Brother of the Year and Harry S. Schwartz Achievement Awards.

An avid sportsman, Hamel and his wife, Heather, reside in Ypsilanti.

The new store features Perry Red Coat prescription service, along with convenience departments that include a large selection of domestic and imported wines, an entire bank of walk-in coolers for beer, milk, soft drinks, dairy foods and other party and food needs.

Women customers will find a well-stocked cosmetic department featuring many of the nation's leading brands, while everyone in the family will enjoy the Perry entertainment center, featuring a wide selection of radios, television sets and stereo equipment.

The store also features a gift department and the photo department offers cameras and fast, low-cost photo finishing.

The Belleville area's new Perry Drug Store will be open from 9 a.m. until 10 p.m. every day, including holidays.

Car names help children avoid long motor trip blahs

During this last vacation month before the children go back to school, many Western Wayne County families pack up the car and head off on vacation. Travels may be to lakeside cottages in Michigan or across the country.

Having the kids along on a vacation is fun, but they often get bored when they have to sit in the car all day.

Wayne County Extension Home Economist Kathleen Buffon has a few suggestions that will keep the children entertained during those long days.

LICENSE BINGO: Each player makes a bingo card with nine boxes. Mark each box with a two-digit number, making sure that no two boxes have the same number.

One player watches the license plates of each car and calls out the first two digits on the plate. When a player hears his number called, he crosses it out.

The first player to cross out three numbers in a row, wins.

STATE PLATES: This game may be played throughout the trip. Everyone looks for license plates from each of the 50 states. The person who finds the most plates from different states wins.

SCAVANGER HUNT: Before you leave on the trip, make up a list of different articles that may be seen along the road. For example: a cow, a pig, a barn or a lake.

Each player is given a list to see an item calls it out loud and then marks it off his list. The first player to see and call all items, wins.

PUZZLES: Before leaving, cut out a picture from a magazine and glue it to a piece of cardboard. Then cut the picture into different shaped pieces, with size and number of pieces according to child's age. Your child will have a puzzle to put together on the trip.

ROADSIDE ALPHABET: Have the children look at signs along the road and pick out letters from the alphabet in their proper order. As each child spots a letter he calls it out and gets credit for it. The winner is the child who has spotted the most letters first when the end of the alphabet is reached.

For court move

Commissioners attack auditors' lease plans

A plan to move common pleas court from the City-County Building to leased space in a downtown Detroit office building is under attack from two directions by a number of Wayne County commissioners. A proposed 5-year lease, due to take effect Jan. 1, was negotiated by the County Board of Auditors for four floors of space in the Lafayette Building without the knowledge of the board of commissioners. The agreement calls for $287,964 annual rental. Several commissioners from districts west of Detroit charged the lease agreement was a move to sidetrack their demands for out-county circuit court branches.

lease, nine common pleas court judges and related offices would be moved to the Lafayette Building where the court's 4-judge landlord-tenant division already is located.

This would make room in the City County Building for five additional judges due on the circuit bench Jan. 1, plus circuit judges now housed in the Old County Building.

Commissioners from west and south of Detroit have been pressing to have at least two of the five additional circuit judges assigned to out-county locations.

THE ISSUE was debated with Leonard D. Proctor, one of the three elected auditors, at a recent meeting of the board's Public Works Committee.

If melted at a uniform rate, the Antarctic icecap would yield about six million cubic miles of water.

SEMCOG prints area-wide street manual

Anyone who has made a frustrated effort to locate a street address on a map could be helped by the 1970 Census Tract Coding Guide. The guide pinpoints the location of the 1970 census tract, a small geographic area identified for every address in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties. Available through the Detroit Regional Census Advisory Committee, the guide was prepared by the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG). According to SEMCOG, it has a variety of applications.

SOCIAL, HEALTH and public welfare agencies in the Detroit metropolitan area can use the guide to develop profiles of the areas from which their patients and clients come. Chief users include mental health clinics, drug abuse centers and police precincts.

The guide can be used by small firms to geographically locate groups of people for car pools.

The guide also can be used by businesses to locate geographically the majority of their customers. By consulting the published 1970 census tract reports, general and socio-economic data obtained can be used to gear marketing efforts to the customers.

The guide matches the name of the street, the governmental unit and the numerical address to the census tract it is located in. THE GUIDE IS available in four volumes, one each for Detroit at $8, Wayne County outside Detroit, $8.

The guide can be obtained from the Detroit Regional Census Advisory Committee, Room 501, City-County Building, Detroit 48226.

Company to publish handbook on conversion to metric units

With the U.S. conversion to the metric system imminent, J. J. Keller and Associates Inc., will publish the "Metrication Handbook." It is the only such edition in America designed for practical, personal, everyday use, company spokesman said.

This new publication is designed to help the consumer start "thinking metric" by seeing the simplicity of the system in relation to our present customary system of measure.

Featured in the "Metrication Handbook" is a complete explanation of basic units of measure, where and how to use them, and rules for their correct usage. Also included are sections on history and development, standards and systems, and conversion considerations.

Written in simple, easy-to-understand style, the book is graphically illustrated throughout, and can be used in home, school or office.

Copies of the handbook are available direct from the publisher at $10 each with postage and handling prepaid, if payment accompanies order.

Special multiple copy prices also are available. Write to: J. J. Keller and Associates Inc., 145 W. Wisconsin Avenue, Neenah, Wisc. 54956.

Nutrition research eyes eating habits

What's happening in nutrition education in the nation's school system? To help find out, the Education Commission of the States has been awarded a $48,594 contract by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service (FNS).

In providing leadership for child nutrition programs, FNS is seeking to develop a constructive role of supporting state and local school officials in telling students about good nutrition and improving their eating habits.

A necessary step is to find out what's going on in nutrition education federally, on the state level, and in local school districts, a FNS spokesman said.

During the next year, the commission will gather data from the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare's Office of Education, the education agencies of every state and the District of Columbia, and a representative sample of local school districts across the country.

Stroke patients to hold meet

The Southern Wayne County Stroke Committee of the Michigan Heart Association is sponsoring a discussion meeting for stroke patients which will allow them to take an active part in planning their recreation program.

The session will begin at 7:30 p.m. on Aug. 21 at the Van Buren Convalescent Center, 4401 Willow Run Expressway, Belleville.

A qualified staff will be presented at the sessions to guide the program discussion. Dr. Joseph Guyon, M.D., chairman of the Southern Wayne County Stroke Committee, explained that the program being organized will be responsive to the needs of all stroke patients and their families.

"We need the patients' input," Dr. Guyon said.

College orients couple

Two Belleville residents have completed a 3-day orientation session at Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo in preparation for the Sept. 3 start of classes.

Timothy McDermott and Janna K. McCollum lived in university residence halls, toured campus facilities and completed a variety of preparatory tests during their recent visit to the school.

For transit systems

Wayne office handles bus orders

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Enterprise-Roman
Automotive Writer

It appears as though Wayne's newest addition to its auto industry rolls will be in operation for awhile.

AM General Corp., which is housed in offices at Venoy and Van Born Road, has been awarded contracts by six transit authorities to build 307 buses.

Although the vehicles won't be built in Wayne, they were designed in AM General's offices in the city.

THE NEW TRANSIT division of the American Motors Corp. (AMC) is working on the design of a new transit vehicle for the United States at its Wayne offices. Cost of the new units is expected to range upwards of $15.4 million.

The National Automobile Dealers Association has criticized Ford Motor Co. and General Motors Corp. (GM) for price increases on their 1975 model cars.

In what was termed "a highly unusual move," the dealers association said both corporations should "hold price increases for the new model year to a reasonable level," following GM's announced $500 increase on new cars and Ford's announced increase of $418 per model.

BOTH COMPANIES claim the increases were placed into effect to help defray rising material costs in automobiles.

With public opinion mounting against them, Ford and General Motors Corp. (GM) are expected to think about lowering the price increases announced earlier this month.

Auto industry observers believe both companies will roll back their prices to show they are cooperating with the nation's efforts to combat inflation, according to an

Associated Press report.

The rollback is predicated on GM, which sets the pace on pricing of automobiles.

THE OBSERVERS, according to the AP, believe GM may drop prices as much as $100 from its announced $500 increase for 1975 models.

Ford may follow suit with its $418 increase announced earlier this month.

The U.S. Congress apparently has heard the cries of prospective automobile purchasers and companies which complained about seatbelt interlock systems required in 1975-model cars.

The U.S. House of Representatives voted early last week to eliminate requirements for the interlock systems, which require the buckling of seatbelts before the automobile starts.

IN ADDITION, the House rolled back the 1976 requirement that all cars be equipped with safety air bags.

The house-passed bill still will have to go before the Senate before it drops the requirements entirely.

DPW reviews firms' bidding on purchase of truck chassis

Four bid proposals, received by Van Buren Township Board of Trustees on the purchase of a trash truck chassis, have been referred to the Van Buren Department of Public Works (DPW) for study.

The bids ranged from a low of $17,125.79 to a high of $24,980. The township supervisor and DPW were instructed by the trustees to award the truck purchase to the lowest bidder contingent upon delivery.

In other business, the trustees appointed Michael Sirdanik of 7981 Belleville Rd., Belleville, to the mini-transit committee. This committee was established by Wayne County Commissioner Brian G. Arrowsmith to consider a mini-bus transit system for the Western Wayne County area.

TOWNSHIP TRUSTEE Fred Domen, the second member of the committee was appointed by the township board several weeks ago.

The trustees also: —authorized the opening of a water department, trust and agency account.

Von Destinon quits position

The Van Buren Public School District Board of Education has accepted "with regrets" the resignation of its business manager, Irvin A. VonDestinon.

The resignation of VonDestinon, who directed the business and financial affairs of the school district for more than four years, is effective Jan. 30, 1975.

His last working day will be Nov. 22, but accrued vacation time extends the effective resignation date to Jan. 30.

Van Buren School Supt. Dale E. Kaulitz said the educational placement bureau at area universities and colleges will be notified of the upcoming vacancy in advertising for applicants.

VonDestinon and his family are returning to Arizona where they resided for more than three years prior to his acceptance of the Van Buren post.

He is a former executive of Cochise College, located in Douglas, Ariz. VonDestinon's son, Mark, will be attending Arizona State University. His wife, Rosemary, expressed a desire to return to Arizona. They also have a daughter, Laura.

Project collects play toys

The Romulus Jaycees are seeking tricycles, large rugs and a refrigerator for donation to the Romulus Headstart Program for underprivileged children in the community.

Program officials requested the Jaycees' assistance in obtaining the items.

Jaycee President, Phil McNett said the donated items should be in working condition. They will be picked up by the Jaycees, if residents call 941-7891.

Sewage expense to rise

The Wayne County Department of Public Works will approve an increase in sanitary sewer rate to municipalities having water consumption contracts with it the Downriver Sewage Disposal System, a county spokesman said.

The Downriver Sewage Disposal System serves 13 municipalities, including the Belleville and Sumpter and Van Buren townships. More than 400,000 people are served by the system.

The county public works department has scheduled a public hearing at 10 a.m. Sept. 10 at its Detroit offices, located at 415 Clifford St.

Officials of the concerned communities will be given an opportunity to object to the proposed sewer rate increase of $20 per million gallons of master metered water consumption that is effective Nov. 1.

Trustees approve rezoning

The rezoning of two lot parcels and a portion of another lot on Rawsonville Road, south of I-94 was approved unanimously by the Van Buren Township Board of Trustees.

The change of zoning from residential to general business for lot six and 1/2 of lot seven in section 19, about 2.41 acres, was requested by Landy Box and William Burhop, both of Belleville.

The second rezoning petition involved lot two in the same section where a proposed MacDonald Restaurant is to be constructed.

Both the township planning and Wayne County Planning Commissions already had approved the two rezonings.

The land parcels also are located adjacent to the Lakewood Shopping Center.

Players christen diamond

A softball game between two championship women's teams, christened Romulus' new Elmer Johnson Park.

The grand-opening of the park, which includes a lighted ball diamond, was conducted at 6 p.m. last Tuesday at the facility on Osgood at Wick Road. The park is the city's first municipal park.

Horsemen to gather

The Romulus Horseman Association will hold a meeting at 7:30 p.m. tonight in the Romulus Municipal Building, 1111 S. Wayne Rd.

THANK YOU!

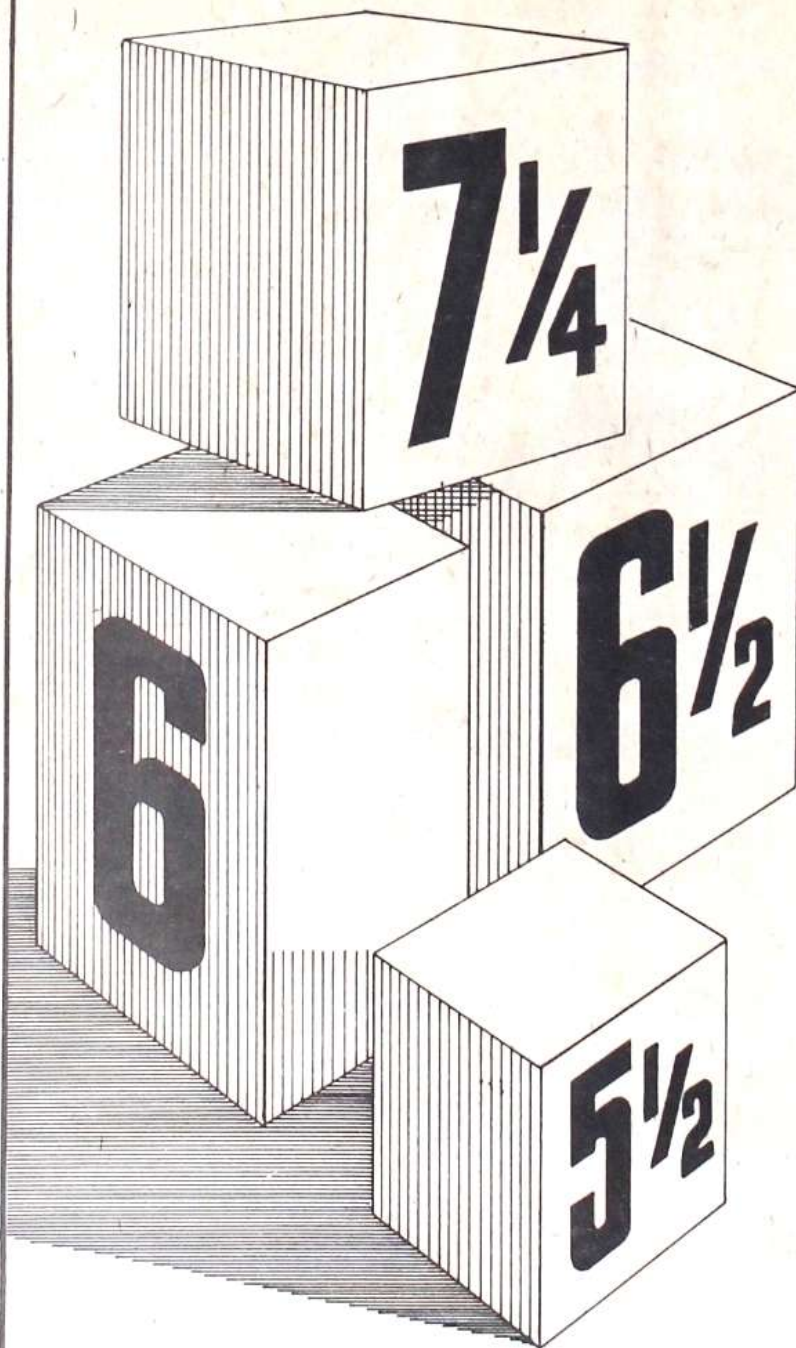

I wish to take this opportunity to thank all of the people who supported and voted for me in the Primary Election on the 6th day of August.

I also would like to point out how important each and every vote was that was cast for me as you well know I was nominated in the election by a very small margin of votes.

Very truly yours,

Smith goes to Russia

By TOM MOORADIAN

"Did you really teach in Russia?" asked Brad Smith as he awaited his turn to get his photo taken for the All-Area wrestling team a couple of months ago.

"Yes, for quite a few years," I replied.
"Gee, what are their athletes like? I wish I could go there," said Smith.

BRAD SMITH

Smith, a two-time high school state wrestling champ, will see his wish come true. Last night he boarded a jet that will take him and the National AAU Age Group wrestling team to Moscow.

THE AMERICAN congregation is due to meet the Soviets on the mats in several cities and Brad will have an extensive opportunity - a once in a lifetime chance - to compete, visit, exchange ideas with people whose ways of life are completely different to ours.

"It's a superb opportunity for Brad," said Jim Stallings, Romulus High's ex-wrestling coach who helped the 18-year-old Smith mature into one of the finest wrestlers in the country.

"He will never forget this experience, believe me," continued Stallings. "I know when I was wrestling I never even dared dream about the type of competition that Brad will meet, the places he will go."

SMITH WAS graduated from Romulus in June and compiled a 144-16-2 won-lost-tied career record. In that record included back-to-back state titles in the 135 and 141 pound classes, respectively.

He also was named to The Daily Eagle-Associated Newspapers' All-Area wrestling team for three consecutive years - one of the few such honored.

This won't be Brad's first taste of international competition. In his senior year he competed in a meet against a Japanese Cultural Exchange team and lost his bout in the 143 pound class.

Stallings explained:

"EARLIER IN the day, Brad competed in the Trenton Invitational and won his weight class title, then he rushed over to Ypsilanti and, after four bouts that day, still had the energy and stamina to take on his Japanese opponent."

"He gave the kid a good battle, but he tired and lost," Stallings added. "Brad is really something else."

When the young athlete returns from Russia he'll head for Toledo University where he'll join his brother, Vergil, and former teammate, Phil Ford. Brad has received a "full-ride" scholarship.

STALLINGS, a Dearborn Heights resident who has coached at Romulus for the past seven years, won't be back with the Eagles next year. He has accepted a similar position with Trenton High, a school that competes in the tough Suburban 8 Conference.

Jim also was honored recently by the AAU when Chuck McKinnon, chairman of the AAU State Wrestling Committee, appointed the veteran mat strategist to help get the Michigan AAU Age Group wrestling team in shape for the nationals.

Stallings and Tom McDougall, chairman of the AAU Wrestling Junior Division, managed to coach Michigan's contingent to the national title.

Michigan amassed a total of 138 points, 60 more than runnerup Iowa to win the title. Here's how the top teams fared: Illinois (56), California (39), Ohio (34), Indiana (28), Minnesota (19), Tennessee (17).

Brad, who came out of the national AAU meet with the title, then met the Junior Olympic champ in a best out of three series and the Romulus grappler outwrestled his adversary 12-3 and 7-4.

It's going to be interesting to see what the young wrestler has to say about the Soviets upon his return.

Isn't it?

Theresa Gibson adding one. Kid Power then went on to win another one, this time from the Foul Balls by a score of 30-0. Three home runs by Theresa Gibson, two by Priscilla and Tareia Gary, and one each by Branda Mosely, Kim Pitts, and Maria Frandini highlighted the attack. Priscilla Gray was the winning pitcher in both games.

AIRLINE BOMBERS continued in their championship quest by downing the Bulls 15-9. Margie Silvey homered for the winners while Becky Suthers drilled three singles and a double. Janet Slater, Debbie Sanders, Patty Sypula and Vicky Wyzyski each added one double and two singles.

Ginny Koch, Carol Johnson, and Betty Weiss contributed 3-for-4 in the Bulls' losing effort.

Foul Balls won out 22-10 in a contest with the Swingers.

Denise Hadyniak and Linda Fee each homered for the losers.

Electric Warriors lost to the Kel-Joys 11-21, in another round of tournament play with Paye Lombardi and Nancy Verduco each stroking a home run for the losers.

Also contributing to the effort were Debbie Oldham with three singles, Shirlee Counts, Mary Anderson, and Mary Sue McGahey each with a double and a single.

Top hitters for the Kel-Joys were Sharon Bogetta with a home run, Kathy Galinski, five for five, Sandy Selle, 4-for-5, Katie Smith and Lila Bogetta, both three for four.

In a close match, the Thumpers squeezed by the Denim Dolls, 13-12. Carol Haneiff singled and tripled, Marie Bradley and Beverly Chamis each singled twice with MaryLynn Hauke scoring the winning run for the Thumpers.

Judy Mullens homered for the Dolls, with Kathy Bartley, Lynn Montgomery, and Debra Shallow each tripling.

Airline Bombers squeezed by the Bottoms Up 6-5 to gain another rung on the tourney ladder.

Tourney remains in family

A father-and-son tennis combination was among the champions at the annual Van Buren Township Tennis Tournament.

Keith Carnahan and his son managed to string together a couple of 6-3 sets to defeat Dixie Robinson and Lee Loichle in the championship round of the men's doubles.

Earlier, Bill Heider stopped Tim Ballard 6-1 and 6-0 to earn the single's title.

MEANWHILE, three sets were needed in the finals of the women's singles competition where Gilba Heider lost a 6-3 opener to Haddie Robinson, then recovered in time to win the next set 6-1 to force the issue into a third set.

Then, Mrs. Heider pulled off a 6-3 victory to take the championship.

The women's doubles championship was decided on a round-robin basis as four-tosomes showed up for the tournament. Haddy Robinson and Carol Hunt eventually walked away with the doubles' crown.

More than 30 persons competed in the tournament which was staged over a period of two weekends.

The area wasn't represented in basketball, our forte.

Or track.

Or tennis...

But, a 14-year-old Romulus bowler was a member of the state's bowling team that competed in the Seventh Annual United States Youth Games held over the weekend in the city of Baltimore.

"We really wanted to win badly," said Dale Campbell, a recent graduate of Romulus Junior High who took up bowling just a year and a half ago. "I didn't have the jitters or anything and I don't psyche out easily."

Campbell and the 11 other members of the Detroit bowling team finished behind over-all winner, New York, and Baltimore. He has a bronze medal to prove he accomplished what he did.

CAMPBELL AND OTHER members of the team qualified for the team by surviving three tough local tournaments held to find the best 11 and under, 12-13 and 14-15 year old boys and girls bowlers around.

"I'm a 156 average bowler," said Dale, "and that's about what I shot in Baltimore."

Dale added that his "main sport" is hockey and, though he will be attending Romulus Senior High this fall, he was the high school's No. 1 goalie last season.

"I started bowling because my mother and father bowl once in a while and always seem to win some money," related the young athlete.

HARD WORK EVENTUALLY paid off. Campbell bowled in the summer league at Taylor Skore Lanes and is a member of a junior league at Lodge Lanes in Belleville.

He obviously has natural talents for, over a span of 18 months, he was able to make the grade and the Youth team.

Detroit flew its 66-person delegation last Thursday to Baltimore and Campbell said "was really one of the best experiences of my life."

"We stayed at the Morgan State College and though we didn't have much time for sight-seeing we did attend a couple of concerts."

"AND THERE was no fighting or anything like that. We would root for our basketball team and they came to the lanes to root for us."

"It was really great."

Campbell feels that he has an excellent shot of making next year's team.

"Most of the kids in my age bracket who went with us will be too old next year and if I can improve my game, I'm sure that I will be able to make it."

If he does, then Dale will have a chance to see Texas. Fort Worth is hosting the eighth annual "games."

And that's a goal worth bowling for.

response," Tack said. "We want everyone who desires to play in this tournament to get registered as soon as possible."

The tournament is opened to all area players. They may play in one singles and one doubles event. In the singles there will be men, women, boys 18 and under, boys 14 and under, girls 18 and under competition.

In doubles, the recreation department has organized brackets for men's women's boy's girl's and mixed competition. Games shall be decided on the best out of three sets.

THERE IS an entry fee: adults singles ($1), junior singles (50 cents), adult doubles ($1.50) and junior doubles ($1).

Each player also must supply all their own equipment, including a new can of U.S.L.T.A approved tennis balls. The winner of each match will advance and take the new tennis balls and the loser will keep the used ones.

Trophies will be awarded to the winners and runners-up in each class and the rules that will govern the tourney will be those sanctioned by the United States Lawn Tennis Association, unless superceded by the Westland Parks and Recreation rules.

Players also will be expected to report 15 minutes prior to the time of their scheduled match.

'Mr. Michigan' joins forces as juvenile officer for Romulus

"Mr. Michigan" of 1974 also happens to be Romulus' new 1-man Youth Services Bureau. Wayne County Sheriff's Department Deputy William Chapoton, a body building enthusiast, is naming a small sheriff's bureau in Romulus with two other deputies who handle primarily crime investigation. Chapoton's sole duties, however, are to help guide young people in his role as juvenile officer.

The three officers have been assigned exclusively to Romulus by Wayne County Sheriff William Lucas under terms of a new contract whereby the department provides police services for the city.

CHAPOTON, 33, a Detroit resident who is married and the father of two, joined the sheriff's department in 1966 and recently was assigned to road patrol in Western Wayne County. His duties have included instructing candidates for the deputy posts and local police officer assignments in physical fitness.

Several months ago, as a part-time volunteer, he began to help Romulus boys who were interested in the techniques of body building. The interest, piqued by his effort, led Romulus Mayor Terry L. Trout to request Lucas assign Chapoton to full-time duty in Romulus.

Chapoton said he "fooled around" with body building when a youngster, then began about five years ago to "take it seriously."

He trains at his home in northwest Detroit where he works out in his heated, insulated garage as much as three or four hours a day, six days a week.

HIS CONDITIONING routine has been altered this summer to three hours a day, three days per week to strengthen his abilities in powerlifting, he said.

"I hope to go to San Francisco," Chapoton added.

Kirila joins board

The assistant vice-president and manager of the Belleville branch of the Bank of the Commonwealth, Michael Kirila, 49, has been elected a member of the board of directors of the Belvil Community Hospital Association.

Hospital Administrator William E. Hinchey in announcing the election of Kirila, said that the new member of the hospital's 12-member board of directors will succeed R. Lynne Hamilton, who resigned his directorship because of the pressures of private business interests.

Hamilton, who owns and operated the Hamilton Hardware Store in Belleville, also is president of the Van Buren Board of Education.

Kirila has been with the Bank of the Commonwealth for more than nine years. He received his high school education while in Europe and later attended Wayne State University where he graduated with a bachelor of arts degree in languages.

The new director was born in Detroit, but raised in Romania. He returned to Detroit after World War II. He and his wife, Elizabeth Ann, are the parents of four children.

Both Kirila and Hamilton remain members of the corporate board of the Belvil Community Hospital Association Inc.

The Corporate board of the association presently consists of 45 prominent area residents. It meets annually to set policy regarding the operation of the Belvil Community Hospital and elect its board of directors.

Students to pay more in school lunch plan

Students attending elementary and junior high school grades in the Romulus Community School District will be paying more for their lunches during the 1974-75 school year.

The Romulus Board of Education has approved an increase of five cents in the hot lunch prices and an increase of five to 10 cents, with an average of five cents, for ala carte items. The lunch price hikes are subject to state approval.

In the Beverly, Gordner and Romulus Elementary Schools, students now will pay 45 cents instead of 40 cents. At South Junior High School, formerly the Romulus Junior High School, students will pay 50 cents instead of 45 cents, according to Thomas M. Janack, assistant superintendent for maintenance and operation.

STUDENTS, ATTENDING Merriman Elementary School, currently are paying 50 cents for school lunches, prepared by the Mass Feeding Corp. of Livonia.

Janack said that a feasibility study presently is under way to determine the cost of establishing a new lunch serving program at Merriman similar to the program existing at the Beverly, Gordner and Romulus Schools.

Federal money financed 75 per cent of the installation costs of cafeteria equipment at the three schools.

The areas served by the three schools were eligible for funds under the federal lunch serving programs, school officials said.

AT THE MERRIMAN School, the Mass Feeding Corp. delivers the food items in a frozen state. These food items are prepared in ovens installed by the firm. Janack added that people in the Merriman School area requested a change to current lunch programs.

In other matters, the board of education approved the purchase of a new Ford tractor with attachments for grass mowing and snow removal. The cost of the new tractor, which will be used throughout the school district, was reported to be $7,763 of which $1,734 was for the attachments.

The school board also: — Approved a bid proposal from the Manufacturers National Bank of 5.75 per cent annual interest on a state aid loan of $400,000. Romulus Assistant Supt. James M. Garfield said the loan will be repaid with state aid funds allotted to the school district in the 1974-75 school year.

— Authorized a 99-year lease with the City of Romulus regarding a 9-acre land parcel owned by the school district and located at the Merriman School property. The city plans to build a city park on the land site.

At gas stations

EPA regional office inspects pump

The Midwest Regional Office of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has launched the first service station inspection program in the nation this week in six Midwestern states including Michigan, to insure the availability of unleaded gasoline required for most 1975 cars.

Unleaded gasoline is needed for the proper operation of the catalytic converter, a pollution control device which will be on most new cars.

EPA said the autos will enjoy better gas mileage, longer spark-plug and exhaust system life, less oil contamination and lower maintenance costs as a direct result of the catalytic converter and unleaded gas.

THE PROGRAM is part of an EPA inspection program which also has started in other states throughout the nation.

EPA regulations adopted under the Clean Air Act of 1970 require all gas stations which sold at least 200,000 gallons in any year since 1970 to offer at least one grade of unleaded gas by July 1 of this year.

Approximately 110,000 gas stations should have at least one pump selling unleaded gas. However, EPA officials said there is a strong likelihood that there will be more stations offering unleaded gas.

EPA has proposed that an additional 10,000 gas stations located in counties with less than 50 persons per square mile be required to sell unleaded gas. This means that there should be at least 120,000 stations, or one out of every two service stations, across the country where unleaded gas will be available to the motoring public, as required by the regulations. Some 20,000 of these stations are located in EPA's midwest region.

IN ADDITION, it is expected that many other stations throughout the country will voluntarily carry the unleaded gas.

According to EPA officials, the inspection program will determine whether or not the affected stations are in fact offering unleaded gas.

SMOKY MESSAGE — Dark smoke poured from an upstairs window of the Northside Hardware Store in Wayne last week as firemen from surrounding communities, including Romulus, battled the blaze for several hours. The fire apparently started in a storage area of the store. Firemen were forced to chop a hole in the roof of the structure to battle the blaze. — Enterprise-Roman photo.

For breathing

Camping has hazards

Camping can be great fun, but hidden hazards can be harmful, according to the American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan.

Exposure to fumes and dust from a metal called beryllium can cause damage to the lungs. The fumes can come from the mantles of some—not all—gas lanterns used in camping.

The mantle in gas lanterns is a device, consisting of a sheath of threads, which gives off brilliant light when heated by the gas flame. When a new mantle is used, beryllium fumes can be released in the first few minutes.

The mantle usually is lit in a confined space, like a tent, and the camper leans directly over the lamp, breathing the fumes deep into his or her lungs.

For bus program

School students to get identification cards

Students in grades seven to 12 who ride the school bus in the Van Buren Public School District for the first time will be required to have identification cards under a new transportation program approved by the Van Buren Board of Education.

The identification card program was presented at a recent board session by officials of the Michigan School Bus Service Co., operators of the district's transportation system.

Under the program, the firm and the school district will share the cost of I.D. cards for about 4,000 students.

THE CARDS will be color coded for junior and senior high school students and have the students' pictures on it. The estimated cost of the card will be about $1.

According to Robert Rudat, local manager of the company, the purpose of the cards is to control the capacities of buses, since many students use other buses which they are not assigned to ride.

"This causes overloading on some buses, creating confusion and behavioral problems as to who sits where along with bus stop fights and arguments," Rudat said. He added: "This also would eliminate senior high students riding junior high buses or vice-versa, and restrict suspended and drop-out students from riding school buses to town."

Van Buren School Supt. Dale E. Kaulitz added that if a student is suspended, the school principal will pick up his card. When the student is re-instated, the card could be re-issued. New students will be issued cards and those leaving will have to turn in their cards.

SCHOOL OFFICIALS said the cards also may be used for all school functions and may help with hall situation between classes at the high school.

Under the program, the I.D. cards would be considered school property, since no student will be charged for the initial card. However, if a student loses the card, the replacement cost would be $2 for the first loss and possibly $3 for the second loss.

The board of education also approved the re-establishment of school bus stops in accordance with the state's new intersection clearance laws.

The new state law requires that oncoming traffic be able to see school buses stopping to load or unload students for 500 feet and that no school bus stop should be within 200 feet of an intersection.

A recommendation by the state that four stops per mile for elementary students excluding kindergartners, and three stops per mile for junior and senior high school students also was approved by the school officials.

FBI agents arrest Sumpter murder suspect

A man sought by Wayne County law enforcement authorities since April 1973 in the murder and robbery of a Sumpter Township couple has been arrested in St. Louis by the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI).

Inspector Frank Van Wilson of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department said Robert McCullough, 22, was named in a warrant, charging him with the April 12, 1973 slayings of David Hayes, 50, and his wife, Mary, 47, in their Sumpter Township home.

McCullough was arrested Aug. 13 by FBI agents when they found him hiding in a deep freezer at his home, wrapped in blankets.

The FBI said that McCullough also is charged with armed robbery and unlawful flight to avoid prosecution. He faces first-degree robbery and weapon charges in St. Louis County in connection with a 1972 service station holdup, the FBI added.

The bodies of Hayes and his wife were found in their home by Wayne County sheriff deputies.

Hayes, who operated Carousel Cleaners, located at 8464 Grand River Ave.

At dinner

Jaycees to honor wives

The Romulus Jaycee wives will be the center of attention Tuesday when they are honored by their husbands at a dinner at the Sheraton Metro Inn in Romulus.

The combined business and social event will begin at 7 p.m. The entire community is invited to attend.

"The Jaycees currently are involved in activities for all ages and both sexes, and hope to show that they realize the sacrifice a family makes in order to donate time to its community," said Jaycee President Phil McNett.

He said the Jaycees also will use the dinner meeting as an opportunity to introduce several new families and prospective new Jaycee members.

McNett invites all interested families or single persons to call him at 941-7891 to indicate their interest in joining the organization. Requirements for members include being between the ages of 18 and 36.

Township parks department schedules family programs

The Van Buren Township Parks and Recreation Department has scheduled an interesting and varied fall, winter, spring program of recreational activities for township residents.

The programs, that will begin on Sept. 9, include recreation for all members of the family, according to Jeffery G. Clark, parks and recreation director.

The recreational activities embrace aquatics, sports, arts and outdoors programs.

Listed events and programs are aquatics - open swimming, instrumental swimming and scuba; sports - gymnastics, adult physical fitness, family fun night, tennis and karate; arts - belly dancing, square dance, guitar, home decor and photo clinic.

The activities and programs for those who love the outdoors will be fly casting, fly tying, marksmanship, hunter safety, cross country skiing, snowmobile safety and model airplane flying.

For further information on the scheduled recreational programs, contact Clark at 699-2001.

Officials set deadlines

Registration dates for new students who plan to attend Van Buren Public Schools in September have been scheduled by school administrators.

All new students who did not attend the Van Buren District Schools last year or did not pre-register last spring should do so during the week of Aug.

26-30, said Raymond W. Kohr, director of personnel.

The schools will be open for registration from 8 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 3 p.m. All students registering must be accompanied by a parent or legal guardian, and should take with them their last grade report or report card. ALL PARENTS of kindergarten students who previously have not enrolled their children are asked to take them to their elementary building for enrollment during the week of Aug. 26 or on Sept. 3.

These parents are requested to take a birth certificate as well as proof that the child is free from communicable tuberculosis and has been immunized for polio, diphtheria, measles and tetanus. Such a child must be 5-years-old by Dec. 1 to be eligible to enroll.

Parents of kindergarten children also are requested to call their elementary school during the week of Aug. 26 to find out whether the student will be attending morning or afternoon sessions.

Kindergartners who will attend morning sessions must report on Sept. 5 and those attending the afternoon sessions will report on Sept. 6 for the first day in school.

KOHR ALSO said on Sept. 5, classes will be in session in the morning with all schools starting at their regular time.

The senior high and Haggerty Road Elementary School will dismiss students at 9:50 a.m.; the junior high schools and Sumpter Elementary School will dismiss students at 10:35 a.m.; and Rawsonville, Quirk, Elwell, Denton and Edgemont Elementary Schools will dismiss at 11:25 a.m.

The West Willow Elementary School will dismiss students at 11:20 a.m.

The students from Independence Square and Van Buren Estates Subdivisions will use specific boundaries and schools.

The students residing on Buchanan Street, Jackson Street south of McBride with house numbers larger than 10400, and on all new streets will attend the Quirk Road Elementary School, 46270 Ayres Blvd., Belleville.

STUDENTS living on Pierce, Arthur, Fillmore, Lincoln and Van Buren Street south of McBride with house numbers larger than 10400, will attend the Edgemont Elementary School, 125 Edgemont St., Belleville.

Students residing on Zackery, McBride, Hamilton, Hayes and Jackson north of McBride with house numbers less than 10400, will attend the Haggerty Road Elementary School, 13770 Haggerty Rd., Belleville.

The students from Forest Park Subdivision will attend Quirk Road Elementary School.

All school boundaries will remain the same as last year, Kohr said.

Area Girl Scout board is proud of appointee

The appointment of Betty Hollenbaugh, personnel services director for the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council, as executive director for the North Country Girl Scout in Plattsburgh, has pleased council administrators.

"The staff is proud that one of its members has been chosen for this fine executive opportunity," said Jo Stevens, executive director of the Huron Valley Council. "She has made an enormous contribution to the council."

Ms. Hollenbaugh of 1454 Gregory, Ypsilanti, will take over staff direction of the council in upstate New York on Sept. 3.

As personnel services director since 1966 for the council, she was responsible for the training and development of 3,000 adult volunteers who worked with 550 Girl Scout troops.

In addition to her Girl Scout work, Ms. Hollenbaugh served as a member of the Altar Guild at St. Luke's Episcopal Church in Ypsilanti.
